Mother, Daughter In Court On Tar, Feathers Charge

Two Calgarians Charged; Nurse Treated in Hospital

Crowd at Hearing

CALGARY (CP)—Magistrate D. C. Sinclair, in city police court today, remanded Mrs. Ethel Allen, 53, and Miss Betty Allen, 24, until July 27, on charges of assault causing actual bodily harm. The charges were laid after Miss Alice Knowles, Calgary nurse, reported to police she had been "tarred and feathered" in her room here Tuesday night.

The two women allegedly entered the 28-year-old nurse's suite in a downtown Calgary house. After they left Miss Knowles was found to be suffering painful burns, believed to have been caused by a chemical in a sticky liquid that had been poured over her. Feathers were sticking from the liquid that fell on Miss Knowles' skin and clothing.

Today Mrs. Allen, a grey-haired medium sized woman, and her tall blonde daughter, known here as a fashion show model, walked slowly into the court room, where the court clerk read the charges. Mrs. Allen persistently kept her hand over her face.

When Magistrate Sinclair asked the accused "Do you plead guilty or not guilty?" J. K. Paul of Calgary, defence counsel, arose to intervene. Magistrate Sinclair instructed the accused to be seated.

INFORMATION SOUGHT

Mr. Paul stated that his learned friend, M. H. Staples, counsel for the crown, was applying for a remand.

Mr. Staples then arose and said the assault was not definitely determined and requested a remand.

Magistrate Sinclair asked the women to arise and then told them they were remanded until July 27. They hurriedly left the courtroom.

Police authorites zealously guarded information contained in their investigation of the first tar-and-feathering case in Canada in years. Details of a statement, issued by Miss Knowles, recovering in General Hospital, would not be revealed until the trial of Mrs. Allen and Miss Allen, police said.

Police would advance no motive for the alleged assault.

Meanwhile, it was learned from reliable source, two women called at Miss Knowles' suite on three occasions last Tuesday. On the first visit a minor scuffle occurred in which Miss Knowles' glasses were broken and police called.

Miss Knowles was not at home at the time of the second afternoon visit. In the evening, however, Miss Knowles called for help and assistance shortly after two women had left.

LIQUID IN PAIL

A tar-like roofing material, found in a paint pail, clothing marked with a sticky substance, an empty pillow case, feathers, and personal articles from Miss Knowles' room are being held by the police as exhibits.

Bail of $100 each was arranged when Mrs. Allen and Miss Allen were arrested yesterday.

Miss Knowles' attending physician stated the young woman's case was a non-medical case. It was a matter of getting all the paint off her skin. She had frequently been bathed at the hospital. He said: "I am going to try and get her out of the hospital tomorrow."

The courtroom was filled at the time the two women entered the room. For an hour afterwards people continued to enter the building, believing the hearing was continuing.

Curious spectators attempted to see Mrs. and Miss Allen as they entered and left the building, but both women kept their faces fairly well covered.

Police said Miss Knowles, who sometimes acted as a practical nurse-companion to neurotic patients, had expected some attack, but had not thought it necessary to seek protection.

Tuesday night Miss Knowles came home about 8.30 and some time later two women visited her suite, said Leo Dvorkin, proprietor of the house where she stayed.

FOOTSTEPS HEARD

His invalid wife, his daughter and he all heard "dancing around" upstairs, he said, but did not think anything was amiss. He became suspicious, he said, when the two visitors left by the back stairs and were seen to drive away in separate automobiles.

"It is the strangest case I have ever run across," Chief Ritchie said last night. He has been Calgary police chief for 20 years.

Wheat Prices Collapse; Ottawa Faces Terrific Loss

$60,000,000 Admitted for Current Year With $100,000,000 Up On Bumper New Crop

OTTAWA—With world wheat prices collapsing today another 2¼ cents a bushel to new lows, July and October wheat down to 52 cents in Winnipeg, it was admitted here in official circles that the Canadian government was about to take an unprecedented licking on its wheat price guarantees.

A semi-official estimated today admitted the government's loss on its wheat buying for the current crop year ending July 30, would run to about $60,000,000.

On the heavier crop, running from 400 to 500,000,000 bushels, coming on for the new crop year commencing August 1, estimates of loss were today running as high as $100,000,000. On a 500,000,000 crop the government would take a loss of $5,000,000 for each cent the price falls.

Financial officials also admitted that the way world markets are glutted with wheat bonused and dumped from all the chief producing countries there was no telling how far the price might sink and that the $100,000,000 estimated loss on the new crop was only tentative as it might quite easily be doubled.

Of the 326,000,000 bushels wheat harvested last autumn on the Canadian prairies, at least 285,000,000 will have been delivered to the Canadian wheat board by the end of the crop year on July 31. It is estimated that 85,000,000 bushels will be left in the hands of the government agency as carry-over.

The board has been buying the crop on the basis of 80 cents a bushel for No. 1 northern at Fort William and selling it in the open market at a loss averaging a little over 20 cents a bushel.

Accordingly the government will have a known loss of about $40,000,000 at the end of the crop year, and a potential loss on the carry-over which at present market may amount to $20,000,000 or more.

NOT BUDGETED FOR

For the coming crop year, the basic buying price of the Canadian wheat board will be 70 cents per bushel on a considerably larger crop and in addition to spring wheat from the prairies the government purchasing is also to include fall wheat from Ontario. An important change in legislation for the coming year is that the 70-cent price will only be paid up to 5,000 bushels for each farmer, with 60 cents paid on all amounts over 5,000 bushels.

In his last budget speech Finance Minister Dunning placed $25,000,000 in the debit column for wheat in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1939. It is apparent that about another $35,000,000 will have to be provided in his budget next spring for the 1938-1939 crop and a still greater amount for the loss on the coming harvest.

Argentine Also Taking Bad Licking

NEW YORK—The Argentine government's current operations in the wheat market will undoubtedly be a severe drain on its resources for some time to come.

The government under its guarantee to pay a minimum price of 7 pesos per 100 kilos for all new crop wheat has bought up to the present approximately 6,000,000 tons at a cost of 420,000,000 pesos. (The peso is worth about 31 cents). On these purchases the government has sustained losses of 23,000,000 pesos.

Unless there is a rise in the international price, the prospects are that the government will lose an additional 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 pesos on its sale of wheat to exporters during the second half of this year.

At the end, however, there will remain an unsold balance of upwards of 2,000,000 tons, representing an investment of 140,000,000 pesos.

MASSEY AND WIFE EXCHANGE MATES

LONDON (CP) — Adrienne Allen, the British actress whose former husband, Raymond Massey, last week married Mrs. Dorothy Whitney, today wed Mrs. Whitney's former husband, William Dwight Whitney, New York lawyer.

The former Mrs. Whitney, now Mrs. Massey, obtained an uncontested decree in Minden, Nev., on July 14, 1937. She charged cruelty.

Two years and a day later she was married to Massey. They now have gone to Hollywood, where Massey will play the Lincoln role in a motion picture.

Massey, Canada's No. 1 actor, born in Toronto, is a brother of Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner in London.

It has been only a few days since both the Masseys and the Whitneys were discovered.

Adrienne Allen and Massey were divorced in Reno on July 3.

Miss Allen, born 32 years ago at Manchester, and Mr. Whitney were married at Chanctonbury register office, Storrington, Sussex.

Mr. Massey, best known for his characterization of Abraham Lincoln, in Robert Sherwood's "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," and Mrs. Whitney were married July 15 in New York. It was Massey's third marriage.

Miss Allen's two children, Daniel and Anna Massey, and her mother attended today's ceremony, for which the register office was decorated with roses.

The couple left on a wedding trip. Paris was reported their destination.

The Whitneys have long been socially prominent in New York. They had two children, Margaret Dwight, now seven, and Dorothy Myrtle, now three. Custody of the children and property rights were arranged in a written agreement.

Prairies Need Rain

WINNIPEG (CP) — Western Canada can still harvest a wheat crop in excess of 400,000,000 bushels, but good general rains are required immediately to check deterioration caused by present high temperatures, according to a crop survey published by the Winnipeg Free Press today.

Buses Proposed For Vancouver

Council Will Consider Independent Company Plan to Replace Street Cars

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mayor Lyle Telford announced today he would ask the city council to consider granting a franchise to an independent private company to inaugurate a bus system replacing the present street car system operated by the British Columbia Electric Railway Company.

Dr. Telford explained he is preparing a brief on the scheme under which street cars would be supplanted by buses throughout the city, at an appreciable saving to the traveling public. He stated he would submit the brief to the council.

The mayor said he would not give a second thought to purchase of the B.C.E.R. Company's street railway system, which he called the "unprofitable limb of a big corporation."

(Last Tuesday W. G. Murrin, president of the B.C. Electric Railway Company offered to sell the city the company's transportation facilities in the city, but advised aldermen they would be wise if they left it alone.)

Six Vancouver technical advisers are aiding the mayor in preparing the brief, and in addition Dr. Telford has summoned an unidentified United States transportation expert.

The mayor also has written to London, England, requesting data on carrying costs and other details of mass transportation from that city's largest bus operators.

Dr. Telford said he hoped his brief would pave the way for operation of buses in the city and halt a council move to continue the existing seven-cent fare agreement between the city and the B.C. Electric for another year.

The city had sought to have fares reduced, but Mr. Murrin refused and indicated at last Tuesday's meeting that the company might ask for an increase.

"I want to settle this thing during my regime," the mayor said.

"I don't want it to drag on indefinitely. There are no legal bars, now that our old agreement has lapsed (last May), to entering into a new agreement with an independent, reliable company willing to provide low-cost transportation and good service.

"We are not even thinking of buying the B.C. Electric street car system.

"Why don't they offer us the power systems too? We would have to buy their entire holdings before it would be worth while.

"But what is the use of even considering this when the city could put in a modern bus system, faster, more economical and cheaper to its patrons?"

The British Columbia Motor Transportation Ltd., which operates buses here and in New Westminster would not be barred from a city franchise by inauguration of the independent company, the mayor said, adding, "if its rates are right."

Greater Victoria Franchise Move

Joint Committee Seeks Authority To Call for Transportation Tenders

Preliminary steps to call tenders for a transportation system in Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich were taken for the first time by the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee at a meeting in the City Hall this morning.

The action was the first united move by Greater Victoria officials in dealing with the transportation issue since legislation was provided at the last session of the Provincial Legislature enabling the city and three municipalities to act together.

Attending the meeting were Mayor Andrew McGavin and Alderman W. L. Morgan and Ed. Williams, members of the city's utilities committee and Reeve R. R. Taylor, Oak Bay; Reeve A. G. Lambrick, Saanich, and Reeve Alex Lockley, Esquimalt.

The committee recommended to the respective councils that they should authorize the committee to call tenders for a transportation system in Greater Victoria, with or without the municipality of Saanich, provided the councils approve a satisfactory form of tender.

The proviso excepting Saanich was inserted to allow for that municipality's present transportation franchise with the Vancouver Island Coach Lines. It will also show whether fares will be higher if Saanich is not included in the Greater Victoria scheme.

The committee also recommended cost of advertising for tenders should be borne equally by the city and municipalities.

The form of tender will probably be that already approved by the City Council during its transportation negotiations last year, with necessary amendments to include Great Victoria. Copies of this form were circulated to the municipalities last year.

Action of the committee this morning does not preclude continuance of street car service, as any tender of the B.C. Electric for street railway service would be considered along with the others.

The action does, however, open the way for speculation as to whether transportation fares will be altered in the Greater Victoria area. Some spokesmen for bus companies have indicated the current six-cent rate and transfer privileges will remain unchanged, while others have indicated successful operation of a Greater Victoria system without a rate increase would be impossible.

Any tender accepted by the Greater Victoria committee will be subject to approval by the provincial government's Utilities Commission which has the power of veto. On this body will fall the responsibility of fully investigating the financial preparedness of the successful tenderer and the company's ability to carry out the provisions of its tender.

COBBLE HILL ROAD PROCEEDS

A four and one-half mile diversion of the Island Highway near Cobble Hill will proceed, Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, said today, announcing that contract for the work will be let to F. Mannix and Company, who submitted a tender of $46,147.52.

The diversion has been the subject of protest by some residents of the district as it will carry the highway some distance from the Cobble Hill centre. The work, however, is to eliminate several turns and modernize the road.

Mr. MacPherson also announced a contract for rock work on the Agassiz Mountain Road has been let to R. R. Christy at a figure of $3,410.

Vancouver Driver Hurt

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bertram Craddock, 28, was taken to a hospital in an unconscious condition early today after the car he was driving had been in collision with another at an intersection. He suffered a severe cut in the side of the head.

Wounded Man Improves

CALGARY (CP) — Dr. I. H. Brodie, attending physician, said today that William Seynk, 28, of Swift Current, Sask., and formerly of Vancouver, wounded critically in a shooting affray here Sunday, today showed "signs of getting better."

Dr. Brodie said prospects were that Seynk would live. Seynk was struck in the groin by a bullet while he and several other men were at a party here Sunday.

William Carter, alias David McKay, of Vancouver, charged with shooting with intent to commit murder, will appear in police court July 25.

Octogenarian Dies

OTTAWA (CP)—Joseph Shapter, 82, a member of the crew of the Challenger, which did hydrographic work for the Royal Navy in the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans and the southern seas from 1872 to 1876, died here today. He was born in Plymouth, Devonshire.

Says Trollers Cannot Get Fish Now Off Sooke

Salmon Trap Probe Resumes Hearings Here

Rancher On Stand

After a day's respite during the All-Sooke Day celebrations, Commissioner Mr. Justice Gordon McG. Sloan today resumed the inquiry at the courthouse into the question of the Sooke salmon traps.

Major J. A. Motherwell, chief fisheries supervisor in the province, and John F. Tait, district fisheries officer, completed their main testimony today and first of the private witnesses was called to give opinion on the traps.

It was expected the commissioner would finish taking the Victoria evidence this afternoon and probably pay a visit of inspection to the Sooke salmon traps tomorrow. Further hearings will be in Vancouver.

A statement submitted by Major Motherwell showed the percentage relationship between the Fraser River salmon caught by traps and those caught by other methods in B.C. waters.

In 1937 the traps caught 9.247 per cent of the sockeye, purse seines .827 per cent., and gill nets 89.925 per cent.

The traps took 9.403 per cent of the pinks, the purse seines 21.865 per cent and gill nets 68.728 per cent.

In 1938, the traps got 2.308 per cent of the sockeye, purse seines 11.954 per cent and gill nets 85.736 per cent. This was not a year of pinks.

In analysis of the figures, Commissioner Sloan asked Major Motherwell if there was any significance in the fact that the Sooke trap catch had not increased in the same proportion as the gill net and purse seine catch since 1935, when the U.S. abolished traps.

EFFECT OF ABOLITION

The supervisor pointed out that abolition of the U.S. traps had not affected the Sooke catch since the Sooke traps intercepted the fish first. But the fact there were no traps on the U.S. side allowed male fish to get back from Puget Sound into Canadian waters, where gill netters and purse seiners caught them.

Commissioner Sloan asked the supervisor for a statement estimating what percentage of the salmon caught at Sooke might be expected to reach the Fraser River salmon boats if the traps were abolished. He undertook to present this.

A. D. Macfarlane, K.C., counsel for J. H. Todd and Sons Ltd., reserved his cross-examination of Major Motherwell.

He brought out, from the statistics, that this year so far there have been more than 500,000 bluebacks, or inmature coho, packed in B.C. canneries, but the Sooke traps in the last 15 years have taken only 9,097 bluebacks from the water. In the same period the traps have taken 960,099 mature cohoes, or less than twice as many as the blueback pack of this year.

"If the bluebacks were allowed to mature, how much more food fish would there be in the 500,000 bluebacks taken this year?" asked Mr. Macfarlane.

Major Motherwell said the bluebacks might range from 1½ to 2½ pounds each in February, from 3½ to 4 pounds in June, when commercial fishing opens, and from 8 to 9 pounds in the late fall.

BLUEBACKS AND COHOES

When does a blueback cease to become a blueback and become a coho? asked Commissioner Sloan.

Major Motherwell explained it was all in the color of the fish, the blueback being a high pink which became paler as it grew older. The younger fish has a bluish sheen on its back.

Questioned by J. M. Coady, commission counsel, the supervisor said practically all bluebacks were caught in the Gulf of Georgia, and he had no records of them in the Straits of Juan de Fuca. He had not heard of counsel's suggestion that the young cohoes did not attain the high color of the bluebacks until they reached the waters of the gulf.

Bluebacks commanded a higher price from canneries than ordinary cohoes because they have a better market, Major Motherwell explained.

China Weathers Slump in Dollar

CHUNGKING (AP)—The Chinese finance ministry says the present depreciation of its currency in foreign exchange need not disturb the basic Chinese economy.

After all-day conferences Wednesday among Dr. H. H. Kung, premier and finance minister, and other Chinese officials, the ministry issued a statement to explain the present monetary complications in China.

(The most immediate of these is the slump of the Chinese dollar, which dipped today to 9¾ cents in United States currency in Shanghai exchange.)

The finance ministry blamed Japanese issuance of large amounts of "military yen" and Japanese acquisition of Chinese money by seizure and collection of customs and other revenues in occupied areas.

The main Chinese trade, it was said, is internal and so, although the decline of the Chinese dollar made it difficult to obtain imported goods, it need not seriously affect Chinese economy.

Pole Slain at Danzig Line

Tension Heightened, But Belief Expressed Poland Will Try to Localize Incident

WARSAW (AP) — The fatal shooting of a Polish border guard near the Danzig frontier today intensified the strain on Polish-Danzig relations, but foreign circles believed Poland would do everything possible to localize the incident.

It was assumed full indemnity for the killing would be asked.

A report the Danzig Senate was prompt in expressing regrets was seen as a potential factor to soothe Polish feeling.

The early afternoon press in Warsaw made no mention of the incident, but in the port of Gdynia public opinion had reached a high pitch.

The version of the shooting which circulated in Gdynia, differing considerably from the Danzig version, was reported based on a deposition by the widow of the slain border guard. She was said to have witnessed the shooting while bringing lunch to her husband.

According to this deposition, a Danzig customs official and two SA men (storm troopers) in uniform crossed the border from Postelau; in Free City territory, to Bozepole, in Poland.

It said they were seen by the guard, Vitold Budziewicz, who ran forward to challenge them, at the same time unslinging his rifle from his shoulder.

Before the Pole could bring his rifle even into a warning position, however, the deposition stated, one of the Danzig men fired a revolver, the bullet striking Budziewicz in the abdomen. The three Danzigers immediately returned to Danzig.

The incident came as the sentencing of a Warsaw city official to 14 months' imprisonment in Danzig and the reported arrest by Free City police of a Polish army officer complicated Polish-Danzig relations.

VERSIONS VARY

DANZIG (AP)—The killing of a Polish soldier near the Danzig frontier village of Postelhau this afternoon suddenly increased tension between the Free City and Poland.

Poles charged that the Polish soldier, Vitold Budziewicz, was shot by a Danzig border official on Polish soil.

Free City authorities said the Danzig customs officer, Max Stein, had fired in self-defence.

The account of authorities of the Nazified Danzig government was that Stein, while patrolling near the Polish-Danzig frontier, saw a man on a bicycle riding toward him from Poland with a rifle slung over his shoulder.

At the border, Danzigers said, the man dismounted, raised the rifle to his shoulder and released the safety catch as he aimed at the Danzig official.

Stein asserted he shot the Pole in self-defence.

BRITISH ESPIONAGE CHARGE IN FRANCE

Paris Newspaper Director Says Agents Approached Him

PARIS (AP)—Jean Boissel, director of the newspaper Reveol du Peuple, was reported today to have told authorities investigating German propaganda that he had been "sounded out" by agents of the British intelligence service but never by German emissaries.

The newspaper L'Oeuvre said the newspaperman named Great Britain as the country whose agents approached him, while Le Matin said Boissel testified he had never been solicited by "Germany or any other totalitarian power."

Le Figaro reported Boissel gave authorities the names and addresses of the "British intelligence agents" and said he could produce evidence to support his assertions at an "opportune time."

Newspapers continued to call for official information on the arrest of two French newspapermen by counter-espionage agents. Most details have been suppressed under the government ban against divulging military secrets.

German Legislators Paid for Easy Jobs

LONDON (CP)—The House of Commons rose on a hilarious note today after 17 hours of work on preparedness legislation.

Just before the end of the weary sitting Brendan Bracken, Conservative, called attention to the fact that German legislators made about £200 (about $936) more a year than British members of parliament and worked only one day a year. He asked whether there were any pension rights.

Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, retorted that he understood the Germans were more obedient to the Government.

(Members of the German Reichstag are called into session once or twice a year to hear Hitler outline government decisions.)

Each British M.P. gets a salary of £600 (about $2,800) annually.

Air Raid Shelter Signs in London

LONDON (CP) — Conspicuous yellow and black pointers appeared on lamp standards throughout the city today bearing the legend: "To trenches."

The points, which are similar in size and shape to those used to direct automobile traffic, indicate the direction a citizen should run towards the parks where underground shelters and trenches are available for refuge in case of aerial attack.

It is part of Great Britain's fast-moving preparedness campaign.

U.S. Missionary Kidnapped By Arabs

G. R. Goldner Held Near Dead Sea For $5,000 Ransom

JERUSALEM (AP) — G. R. Goldner, 29-year-old American missionary, was reported by his father today to have been kidnapped by Arab rebels near the Dead Sea for $5,000 ransom.

The elder Goldner, also a clergyman, told authorities he, too, had been captured but had been released to return here to arrange the ransom.

A strong detachment of British troops began to search through the hills. Royal Air Force planes joined the hunt later.

CLEVELAND (AP) — K. V. Ludlow, brother-in-law of Gerould Goldner, 29, Christian Church missionary reported kidnapped by Arabs near the Dead Sea, received a cablegram today from Dr. Jacob Goldner, the missionary's father, saying the youth "is safe."

General Says Germany Does Not Fear Fight

TANNENBERG, East Prussia, Germany (AP) — Germany's army chief of staff, Col.-Gen. Walther von Brauchitsch, warned Poland today that Germany does not "seek a fight, but we do not fear it."

Speaking before 2,500 army cadets on the scene of the battles of Tannenberg of 1410 and 1914, Von Brauchitsch declared any claim which Poland may make to territory in East Prussia would be "a mistake, which a soldier does not want to refute in mere words."

Tannenberg is some 10 miles from the Polish border. Chancellor Hitler is to speak here August 27.

"Over the graves and crosses of many centuries during which this soil again and again was victoriously defended, our path goes toward the honor and greatness of our Fatherland," Von Brauchitsch declared.

Hopes Burned Girl Will Recover

Little Marilyn Pearson Patient in Vancouver Gains in Fight

VANCOUVER (CP) — Hospital attaches held hope today for the recovery of three-year-old Marilyn Pearson, dangerously burned when her dress caught fire after she and a companion were playing with matches.

Turned into a virtual human torch by the flames yesterday, the child was saved by J. C. Cousins, who was driving past the Pearson home and saw the girl run wildly into the street. He jammed on the brakes, leaped out of the car, tore off his coat and wrapped it around the tot to smother the flames.

It was not known immediately how Marilyn's dress caught fire, but detectives questioned another little girl who had been playing with Marilyn and learned that matches they lighted set fire to her dress.

Cousins rushed the child, accompanied by her mother, to the hospital in his automobile.

Ten minutes before the accident, the mother said, Marilyn had been playing on the family's front steps alone.

Then, said Elsie, 17-year-old sister:

"Marilyn was running across the road with her dress on fire. The driver (Cousins) I'd never seen him before, shouted to her to throw herself down. Then he jumped out of his car and wrapped his coat around her."

For hours Mr. Cousins' identity remained a mystery, he drove to work after his trip to the hospital, and muttered only a sketchy account when questioned by fellow employees who noticed his burned coat.

HEPBURN ALOOF IN ELECTION CAMPAIGN

Says He Will Not Speak For or Against Mackenzie King

TORONTO CP)—Premier Hepburn of Ontario will not take the platform "one way or the other" in the forthcoming Dominion election, he said today. "Everyone knows where I stand, what I think, but I am not going to make any election speeches at all," he said.

Mr. Hepburn reiterated his position that Liberal members of the Ontario Legislature may support Federal Liberal candidates if they choose.

"I have stated that Ontario Liberal Legislature members are perfectly free to take what action they please. That goes without qualification. If provincial members decide to support federal Liberal candidates, I don't intend to 'take it out on them' afterward. I don't expect, however, that Ontario cabinet ministers will campaign for federal Liberal candidates outside their own ridings. Some of the senior members of my cabinet, I imagine, will not take any part in the election on the side of the Dominion Government."

Mr. Hepburn's statement today apparently ended speculation that he might carry his antagonism toward Prime Minister Mackenzie King to the point of opposing the federal government openly in the next Dominion campaign.

Bund Leader Fined for Profanity

In Massachusetts Court Fritz Kuhn Also Admits He Was Drunk

WEBSTER, Mass (AP) — Fritz Kuhn, leader of the German-American Bund and sometimes called the "Little Fuehrer" by his followers, pleaded guilty in district court today to charges of drunkenness and profanity and was fined $5 on the latter count.

In a jammed court-room, Kuhn shifted from one foot to the other, apparently nervous as his lawyer stepped up to make the guilty plea. Judge Louis O. Rieutord placed the drunkenness charge on file, thereby suspending further action on this count.

Kuhn's trouble started in the early hours of Sunday morning here when Motorcycle Patrolman Henry Plasse stopped his party because he contended the driver of the automobile was not fit to drive. After a switch of drivers the party started off, but Plasse arrested Kuhn when he contended the Bund leader swore at him.

Kuhn failed to come into court when he first was ordered to appear last Monday.

Kuhn and his party of five appeared at the courthouse today, however, more than an hour before his scheduled hearing.

Advantages Seen If Alaska Road Built in B.C.

Vancouver Trade Board Gives Views To Commission

VANCOUVER (CP) — Advantage of routing a highway to Alaska through British Columbia was discussed today in a brief submitted by the Vancouver Board of Trade to the Canadian section of the International British Columbia-Alaska Highway Commission.

The commissioners returned yesterday from a tour of northern British Columbia and the Yukon, where various proposed routes were surveyed.

The brief was devoted mainly to discussion of advantages of a route through B.C. as against one "wholly or almost wholly east of this province."

With the meagre data available on construction costs and division of costs—variously estimated at between $14,000,000 and $25,000,000—between the governments involved, the board felt it was not in a position to pass judgment on the merit of building such a road at the present time. But, the brief added, the members were conscious of the necessity of a sound and progressive road policy in the Province and realized the importance this policy must play in the development of industrial and tourist resources.

Proximity of the road to the coast by routing it through British Columbia was urged as a means of substantial saving in construction cost, as construction crews could service it economically at several points by relatively low transportation connections from the coast.

The points mentioned were Prince Rupert, Stewart, the Stikine River and Skagway, Alaska.

POPULATION ANGLE

In considering population the board submitted that the more westerly the course taken by the highway, the larger would be the number of persons accommodated in existing communities of northern British Columbia, the Yukon and Alaska. It noted populous communities of Alaska were mainly along the coast, including the Panhandle, which forms some 500 miles of British Columbia's western boundary.

The board mentioned the potentialities of tourist traffic, the popularity of British Columbia and the Rocky Mountain states of North America where tourists are concerned.

A westerly routing of the highway through British Columbia would be more attractive scenically to tourists than the flat country if the road were routed through Alberta and the Northwest Territories, it said.

Western states would furnish more tourists for a highway running to Alaska through British Columbia than for one going east of the province, the brief stated.

The board offered no comments on military value of the road, stating that was a matter for military officials.

Britain Restores Europe's Confidence

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain asserted today "there is every indication that Britain's newly regained power is restoring confidence to Europe and in those countries which desire to live in peace and security."

He expressed this optimistic view of the international picture in a letter urging voters to support Cecil Pike, government candidate for a seat in Parliament in the Colne-by-election.

Some circles had a more pessimistic outlook.

Vernon Bartlett, Independent member of Parliament and writer on foreign affairs, said in the News Chronicle, Liberal, that the "grudging way" in which Britain had discussed credits with Poland "nurtures doubts in Polish minds about British determination to make a stand against aggression."

Palace Garden Party Canceled

LONDON (CP)—A Royal garden party was canceled today when pouring rain turned Buckingham Palace lawns into a quagmire.

Palace authorities decided to cancel the event after several hundred of the 10,000 guests had arrived. It was believed to be the first time the most democratic of all palace functions had been called off.

Among the disappointed visitors were 11 prominent Canadians, including Mr. Justice Oswald Crocket of the Canadian Supreme Court, Mrs. Crocket and J. Stanley McLean, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, who would have been presented to Their Majesties by Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner.

British Embassy Guarded

Police Protect Ambassador as New Incidents Occur in Anti-United Kingdom Campaign

TOKIO (AP)—Japanese police kept a special protective guard over Sir Robert Craigie, British ambassador, Thursday as the Anti-British campaign in Japan produced new manifestations of bitterness.

It was disclosed a Japanese man who had surmounted the walls of the British embassy grounds was arrested while hiding there Wednesday night.

Sir Robert is Britain's chief negotiator in the Tokio conference seeking settlement of the Japanese-British dispute in China—a conference in which two long sessions have produced little evidence of agreement and signs of additional friction.

Tokio movie theatres today posted signs, "No Britishers Allowed," and a widely displayed poster read:

"Your fathers, brothers, sons and friends have been killed in China because third powers have prolonged the hostilities."

Japanese employees of the British embassy reported they had received numerous anonymous threats demanding they quit their jobs.

The ambassador conferred five and a half hours Wednesday with Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita in the second session of the Tokio negotiations arising out of the Tientsin concession blockade. They are to meet again Friday.

Informed sources said influential Japanese elements were urging closer relations with Germany and Italy—Japan's allies in the anti-comintern pact—insisting the Tokio parley is bound to fail and a frontal clash between Britain and Japan in China to follow.

Japanese army men here and in China have insisted all along there was no chance of an accord with Britain.

However, informed sources said the cabinet, and especially the foreign office, wanted a solution of British-Japanese issues.

Belief was expressed Friday's meeting would produce either breakdown or continuation of the parley in a better atmosphere.

NO RETREAT

TOKIO (CP-Havas) — Tokio newspapers reported Thursday that Japan has refused to modify her demands on issues arising from the Tientsin dispute.

Japan insists, according to the Asahi, that Britain shall:

1. Recognize a state of war in China.

2. Cease all hostile actions toward Japan.

3. Place no obstacle in the way of measures necessary for the "maintenance of peace and order and the existence of the Japanese army in China."

The Nichi Nichi said that on matters of principle Great Britain must reply yes or no.

Mongolian Negotiations Hinted

By RUSSELL BRINES
Associated Press Foreign Staff

HSINGKING, Manchukuo (AP) —Japanese readiness to negotiate with Soviet Russia for settlement of the Manchukuo-Outer Mongolia conflict was indicated Thursday in authoritative quarters.

The suggestion was put forward by the newspaper Manchu. (All newspapers in Manchukuo are strictly controlled by the government, which is controlled by the Japanese army). Other informed sources expressed belief the Japanese would be willing to negotiate if Russia would take the first step.

It was indicated any such negotiations would be held in Tokio or Moscow and be directly between the two great powers concerned—Japan and Russia—and not their protectorates, respectively Manchukuo and Outer Mongolia.

The conflict, nominally between the two protectorates, has produced more than two months of intermittent warfare on Manchukuo's northwestern border in which each side reported it had killed thousands of the enemy.

Indications of Japanese willingness to negotiate followed closely recent military declarations reprisals might be made on Russian cities for Soviet air raids on towns well within Manchukuo.

Officials belatedly disclosed the raids had continued as recently as July 18, with two attacks on Halunsharshan, Japanese army railhead 125 miles from the recent border battlefield. The Japanese report said there were no casualties.

Informed sources said Japanese reprisals might lead to extension of the conflict, which would be unwelcome to a Japanese government already heavily involved in a war with China and bitter dispute with Great Britain.

Border reports told of comparative quiet on the recent battlefield along the Khalka River, with a small Outer Mongolian detachment still holding ground in the disputed area east of the river.

Japanese Oust Bishop in China

TSINGTAO, China (AP)—Rt. Rev. Lindel Tsen, Anglican Bishop of Honan with headquarters at the Canadian church mission in Kaifeng, arrived here Thursday with his invalid wife after having been driven from his diocese by the Japanese.

Refugees arriving here from Kaifeng, one of the main centres of Canadian Anglican missionary endeavor in China, said about 100 Chinese patients and 75 employees of the China Inland Mission Hospital in the Honan province capital had been ejected by police in the Japanese-directed anti-British campaign.

Dr. Tsen has been Bishop of Honan for four years. He holds honorary doctorates of divinity from Wycliffe College and Trinity College, Toronto.

All British and Canadian residents of Kaifeng were reported driven out.

Several of the Britons said they had been directed to leave Kaifeng only in the fear that otherwise Chinese Christians would be imprisoned or killed.

NO REPORT RECEIVED

TORONTO (CP)—Rev. L. A. Dixon, field secretary of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada, said today he had no information on reports British and Canadian residents were driven out of Kaifeng, Honan province.

Five Canadians are stationed there. They are Miss Greta M. Clarke of Peterborough, Ont.; Miss May Watts of St. Catharines, Ont.; Rev. G. A. Andrew of Arichat, N.S., and Mrs George E. Simmons and Miss Frances Howard, whose home addresses are not known.

Five Canadians also are stationed at the Anglican mission hospital at Kweiteh, 100 miles from Kaifeng. They are Dr. and Mrs. H. Gilbert of London, Ont.; Miss S. S. Kelsey of Lachine, Que., and Miss A. Burgess and Miss K. Robbins, address unknown.

TORONTO (CP)—Nearly 4,000 men, many of them Toronto unemployed, will find work on construction of a $2,000,000 addition to the terminal A post office at the Union Station here. The federal government has awarded a contract to the Redfern Construction Company Limited, Toronto, which submitted the lowest tender of $2,137,000.

Atlantic Test Plane Pauses at Halifax

HALIFAX (CP)—An American Export Company flying boat landed at the Eastern Passage base of the Royal Canadian Air Force today after a nonstop flight from Foynes, Erie.

The big twin-engined craft, which flew from Port Washington, N.Y., to Foynes via Botwood, Nfld., last week, stopped at Botwood on the return journey. It was scheduled to take off for Port Washington after refueling here.

The flying boat, which has a six-man crew, is on experimental trans-Atlantic flights.

Sapiro Under Fire At Bridges Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—Aaron Sapiro, the man behind the first organization of western Canada's wheat pools, was a central figure today in the deportation trial of Harry Bridges, Australian-born west coast labor leader.

Defence counsel levelled an attack on Sapiro's testimony given yesterday that Bridges once boasted he was "running the Communist Party."

Bridges' attorney elicited the embarrassing admission from Sapiro that he once was implicated in Chicago with Al Capone and 31 others in an investigation of an asserted dry-cleaning "racket," and that he was disbarred from federal practice two years ago on charges of jury-fixing.

Inquiry Soon Into U.S. Labor Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States House of Representatives ordered today a sweeping investigation of the National Labor Relations Board.

A resolution creating a five-man investigating committee was put through by an almost solid phalanx of Republicans and a large group of Democrats.

Speaker Bankhead announced the roll call for the resolution was 252 to 135.

New National Park In P.E.I. Opened

CAVENDISH, P.E.I. (CP)—Washed by the Gulf of St. Lawrence, Canada's newest national park was opened formally yesterday in the "Anne of Green Gables" country of Prince Edward Island.

The golf course laid out on the farm made famous by Lucky Maud Montgomery in her novel "Anne of Green Gables," was the scene of the ceremony. A ribbon stretched across the first tee of the links was cut with silver shears by Mrs. Thane Campbell, wife of Prince Edward Island's premier, and Hon. T. A. Crerar, Federal Minister of mines and resources, and Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, drove off two balls to open the course.

The new park is narrow and skirts the north shore of the island for 25 miles. It includes some of the finest natural sand beaches in North America.

Lady Hatch Ended Life

LONDON (CP)—Lady Constance Hatch, aunt of the Duke of Leeds, whose body was found Tuesday on the pavement near the Wimpole Street Hospital where she was undergoing treatment, committed suicide by jumping from a window of the establishment, a coroner's jury decided yesterday. Lady Constance was the widow of Sir Ernest Hatch.

STORK DERBY FAMILY PROTECTED

Attempt to Kidnap Nagle Children Feared At Wasaga Beach, Ont.

WASAGA BEACH, Ont. — A high fence stands as a barrier around the summer residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Nagle, near this summer resort 80 miles northwest of Toronto. The fence was put up following reports of a prowler seen around the estate and who, Mrs. Nagle fears, "was looking for the children."

Mrs. Nagle, mother of 13 children, was one of the four Toronto mothers awarded $125,000 each in the court proceedings arising from the will of Charles Vance Millar, eccentric Toronto lawyer, who left $500,000 to the Toronto mother bearing the most children in the decade after his death in 1926.

Leonard O'Connor, a brother of Mrs. Nagle, said the prowler struck him in the stomach with a heavy club when he went out of the house recently to investigate a man "snooping around the house with a flashlight." The man escaped in the bush surrounding the house.

Mrs. Nagle said she believed the man was after the children, because clothes on the line, an open icehouse and two cars in the yard were not touched.

THREE KILLED IN ONTARIO CAR CRASH

MARKHAM, Ont. (CP)—Identification of the third victim of a fatal three-automobile crash was completed today when provincial police learned Lula Welsby of Chatham, Ont., was the previously unidentified girl in the accident last night one mile west of here on No. 7 Highway.

Bruce Ragen, 23, of Toronto, and his fiancee, Elsie Looker, 20, also of Toronto, and Miss Wellesley were killed shortly before last midnight when a car driven by Ragen and owned by his brother, Fred, bounced from the back of one machine and crashed head-on into another.

The Chatham girl came here recently looking for a job. She got one and was to have started work today in an restaurant.

Scene of the crash was about 18 miles northeast of Toronto and 10 miles east of where five persons were killed in a two-car intersection crash July 3.

Octogenarian Cyclist Pedals 1,028 Miles

CHICAGO (AP) — An 86-year-old grandpa, William C. Bailey of underhill, Vt., who just cannot stay off a bicycle — since he learned to ride one seven years ago—was in town again today. He arrived at the home of his granddaughter, Mrs. Ralph Griswold, Tuesday, after pedaling his way here from his home town, a distance of 1,028 miles.

25,000 From 25 Countries At Hollywood MRA Rally

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. (AP) — Their drive for moral rearmament launched before a near-capacity crowd of 25,000 in the Hollywood Bowl, leaders of the movement and 100 delegates headed north for Del Monte, Calif., today and opening of a 10-day international rally beginning tomorrow night.

Representatives from 25 countries participated last night in a powerful plea for unity in an unsettled world—a unity based on the four points of moral rearmament, honesty, unselfishness, purity and love.

Leaders list three objectives of the program:

1. Permanent peace between individuals and nations;
2. Make the world's wealth and work available to all, but for exploitation by none;
3. Create a new culture and bring advent of "the golden age."

Dr. Frank N. D. Buckman, founder of the Oxford Group and prime mover in moral movement, outlined the principle of adapting individual good will to public life and declared:

"Hollywood can be the sounding board to the nations."

H. W. (Bunny) Austin, English tennis star, said "new hope for the future" had been generated in his country through the plan.

Other English speakers included George Miff, Labor member of the British House of Commons, and Bill Rowell, representing London's 420,000 unemployed. Chinese and Japanese representatives shook hands; union leaders greeted officials of employers' organizations.

Messages were read from public and industrial leaders.

Excerpts included:

President Roosevelt: "The underlying strength of the world must consist in the moral fibre of her citizens."

Former President Herbert Hoover: "The common ground . . . of co-operation can be found in the moral inspirations of truth, justice, mercy, tolerance, respect for dignity and rights of individual men and women, and a willingness to carry one's share of the common obligations and the common burdens."

INFLUENZA GERM MAY BE TRACED

CHICAGO (AP)—Science may be on the threshold of a great discovery—the source of inflenza epidemics—the American Medical Association announced today.

The quest for the origin of such scourges as that great human "flu" epidemic of 1918 has led to hogs and earthworms.

So strong is the evidence that the Association's Journal warned physicians that "hogs and earthworms may conceivably serve as the source of some future human epidemic."

The Journal's editorial told of research—with surprising results—done by Dr. R. E. Shope of the Rockefeller Institute.

Dr. Shope's observations were so astounding that if they are confirmed much of the medical literature on virus diseases such as poliomyelitis, or infantile paralysis, "will have to be rewritten," the journal said.

For some time bacteriologists have believed influenza might be caused by a filterable virus, a poison exceedingly small.

Dr. Shope concluded that earthworms were "carriers" of swine influenza virus.

"Lungworm larvae from pigs with swine influenza harbor swine influenza virus throughout their development," Dr. Shope reported.

"Whether the swine influenza is an aberrant type of the human influenza is still controversial," the journal commented.

It is expected that America will have 15,000,000 bales of surplus cotton to carry over when this year's crop is marketed.

U.S. RECRUITS NAVAL RESERVE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States navy started today recruiting a "minute man" force of several thousand former sailors, corresponding to the army's new enlisted reserve.

It will be composed of men who have just completed a term of active duty or have been out of the navy less than four years.

The force will be available to complete the crews of warships quickly in event of war. Most warships operate in peacetime with only about about 80 per cent of full complements.

An inducement of $20 a year was held out to the recruits. In return the new "class F-2" fleet reservists must keep themselves in physical trim and for four years be ready for emergency recall to active service, but they do not have to drill.

Upwards of 7,000 will be enrolled in the next 12 months if tentative official estimates are realized. Congress provided initial funds.

The navy already has a fleet reserve force composed of ex-sailors who have retired to civilian life after completing at least 16 years of service.

For the time being enlistment in the new reserve force is voluntary. Since July 1, when an enlistment period in the navy was lengthened from four to six years, the Secretary has been empowered to require recruits to agree in advance to join the fleet reserve if they do not re-enlist.

The United States army has been signing up former soldiers for its new reserve force so fast that officers expect to enroll the full strength of 75,000 in less than the four years originally anticipated.

The quota for the first 12 months ended June 30 was 16,667 men, but 21,560 had signed up on that date. The army pays its reservists $24 a year to remain subject to recall.

Rescuers Fail to Prevent Suicide

TORONTO (CP) — Dorothy Canning, 30, of Toronto, died today shortly after she had dropped 120 feet from a viaduct. Three men struggled four minutes to hold her up after she had crawled over the bridge railing, but her dress ripped and she fell to the railway tracks. The coroner's office decided no inquest was necessary.

Alex Hershaw told police he saw Miss Canning climb over the viaduct railing, but was unable to stop her.

The viaduct has been the scene of several suicides in the last few years.

Man Prepares Own Grave; Keeps It Green

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP) — Joseph Ohannesian, 43, has had his grave ready and an engraved tombstone erected since 1937, but he was disappointed yesterday when he did not die as he had predicted.

Weeks ago Ohannesian told cemetery caretakers he would be in another world on July 19. The former blacksmith believes he really "died" in 1937 when his health failed and he had to give up work.

Ohannesian has watered the grave dutifully until it now is the greenest in the vicinity. Sometimes he even sleeps on the grave.

The stone is engraved to the memory of all the members of his family massacred by the Turks in Armenia in 1914.

About 90 per cent of Siam's people can't read and write, but the country has compulsory education now.

MAN KIDNAPS DIVORCED WIFE

Ex-Convict Held in Massachusetts Also For Armed Robbery

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP) —James J. Kehoe, 24-year-old former convict, charged with kidnapping his divorced wife, pleaded innocent in district court today and was held in $11,200 bail for a hearing July 28.

Kehoe, who also entered pleas of innocence to additional charges of robbery while armed, larceny and carrying a dangerous weapon, was committed to the Hampshire County jail in lieu of bail. He stood mute in the prisoners' enclosure after entering his plea, outwardly calm.

The alleged abductor was arrested in a tourist cabin last night, 20 miles from the scene of the kidnapping.

With him, the arresting officers reported, was Mrs. Bernice Beckwith, 27, who divorced Kehoe about six years ago when he was sentenced to serve a reformatory term on a burglary charge. Officers said she appeared unharmed.

Acting Police Chief George J. Bernier of Northampton said Mrs. Beckwith's alleged abductor held up the woman, her husband, Cyril Beckwith, and Leroy Langdon at a plumbing shop where Langdon was employed, took $9 from the men and forced the trio to enter his automobile and drive to an isolated spot with him.

When the machine stopped, Beckwith managed to escape and Bernier quoted Beckwith as saying the abductor tried to shoot him as he fled. Langdon was permitted to walk away and the man then drove away with Mrs. Beckwith.

Kitsilano Band Feted at London

LONDON (CP)—The Vancouver Kitsilano Boys' Band was entertained at luncheon at the Greenwich Naval College today on behalf of the Navy League.

Before the river trip to Greenwich the band members, wearing white silk shirts and long, sweeping scarlet cloaks, marched from Charing Cross to Westminster.

The band has been playing at various places in the provinces since it arrived in England July 8. Its founder, A. W. Delamont, said the boys had "a grand time" in England.

THUS SPOKE THE KING

"Life is a great adventure, and every one of you can be a pioneer, blazing by thought and service a trail to better things . . . Canada has before her a development far beyond the most optimistic dreams of her pioneers . . ."

The royal author of these royal words has walked our ways and gone back to the Seat of Empire. The shouts and bunting are no longer on our streets. But, inwardly, much of inestimable worth remains. We have stood shoulder to shoulder to cheer our King and Queen. It has united us as never before — deep below all differences and difficulties, East, West and North. We are united in a new hope and a new confidence in ourselves and in one another; for we have seen ourselves through royal eyes. And we have realized that it was fears which held us back, fears bred of threats without and of misunderstandings within. These fears had slowed the wheels of commerce and fed upon their own results. Now, mentally, we stand as physically we stood to cheer — shoulder to shoulder. In this new faith and confidence, we shall go forward "blazing by thought and service a trail to better things". Only thus can we fittingly respond to that man and king who visited us upon the greatest adventure of peace in modern history — and won a continent.

Silence in Rome

ANNE O'HARE McCORMICK, A DISTINGUISHED foreign editorial correspondent of the New York Times, sees significance in the singular silence on the part of Italy with respect to the Danzig crisis.

As during the Munich crisis last September, she finds in Italy few signs of preparations for war. Except for extra troops in Albania and on the Brenner, mobilization is not even on the Polish or Roumanian scale, let alone on that of Germany and France. The reserve maintained in Rome during recent excitements is attributed by many British politicians, Laborites as well as Conservatives, to the feeling that since Italy has realized most of her imperial program, save for the comparatively trifling demands on France, at the last scratch she will be found among the defenders of the status quo.

It is clear to thoughtful Italians that the one power that loses most by the extension of German "lebensraum" is Italy. A weakening of Poland would mean the weakening of a friend, for the bond between Italy and Poland was strong even up to last March. When Fascist strategists talked frankly to Miss McCormick they hinted that the chief reason for the coup in Albania was to block a possible German move toward the Adriatic. While Jugoslavia is presumably the sphere of influence allotted to the southern end of the axis, Italians suspect they have to struggle to save their dwindling stake in the partnership. Whether for these or more pressing domestic motives, Mussolini is obviously as reluctant now as he was last September to assume the risks of war. His silence must cover the same misgivings that are expressed by the Italian people, by the army chiefs, by the older members of the Fascist Grand Council. "What do we gain by fighting for Germany?" they say.

Miss McCormick believes that since Italy will surely be forced into war if the conflict comes, her interest in preventing it is even greater than that of Britain, France and the United States. This is a very important factor in a situation in which two things can be taken for granted. One is that at the crucial point Mussolini will intervene again to restrain his ally. The other is that if he fails, despite his strong personal influence on Hitler, and then balks at the final plunge, Hitler will not dare a general war alone.

Upturn

CAUSE OF THE RISE AND THE REvival of buying this week in the New York market, which gives the lead to other stock exchanges across the country, is to be found not only in the easing of foreign tension, but in what the Wall Street Journal presents under the heading of "Business Better—No Summer Slump."

Evidence of better business summarized by the Journal includes: Average 10 per cent sales gains for June over June, 1938, reported by mail order and chain stores, with actual new sales records here and there; sales gains this season over last shown by department stores and automobile dealers; a new high level for gasoline consumption; steel operations and sales well above last year and holding in face of the fact that steel business droops about this time most years; electrical equipment, chemical and copper industries feeling the effects of buying and all running considerably ahead of a year ago; machine tool orders climbing steadily, not on foreign orders, but on orders of domestic manufacturers who are bringing their plants up to date or who are increasing.

All this means not only that consumers are buying, but that the heavy, capital goods industries are feeling the effects of an uptrend. Confidence is returning to business all around.

After 40

IT IS NOT UNUSUAL FOR A CATCH phrase to be so frequently quoted that it takes on the guise of Gospel; or a statement to be made, however illogical or baseless, often enough for it to be become generally believed.

It was in that fashion that the impression was given currency that life after 40—to the needy and the wage-earner—is an era of joblessness and want; that upon attainment of one's most fruitful years one starts down hill, upon the road to discard sudden and severe.

Facts regarding industry's treatment of its employees speak otherwise. For private industry and employers recognize the value of experience and prefer to retain those workers whose loyalties and efficiency are to its interest.

As an example, the Ford enterprise, one of the age's foremost individual industries, is cited. Of 123,562 employees in the various Ford factories, more than 47,000 are 40 or over, 28,576 are 45 or over, 6,377 are 55 or over, and 198 are 70 or over. Two, indeed, are working there at the age of 84.

Facts such as these are worthy of close study by way of correcting some of our views on the modern industrial system. In some of its aspects, it is not as destructive of human values as it has been charged with being—even in its heyday free of intervention and interference.

Mars Moves Close Up

IF THE SKIES WOULD ONLY CLEAR, this would be an unusually interesting month for amateur astronomers. For Mars is now headed in our direction and on July 27 will be closer to us than it has been for 15 years. Its distance from the earth on that date will be 36,000,000 miles, while usually it is 142,000,000 miles. Telescopes in all the big observatories of the world are now being trained on the planet in hopes of learning more about it during the next week or two.

At this time it will be in the same favorable position in which, in 1877, Schiaparelli of the Milan observatory first saw dark lines connecting the major areas of the planet and gave them the name canali. The canals have not been satisfactorily fathomed by astronomers, but they have helped us as we try our best to perceive the planet as it really is and thus expand our universe. It is provoking to have a planet come so comparatively near, and yet successfully defy what must be called our limited intelligence.

We are gaining on Mars, however. We now know that two-thirds of the planet is reddish and apparently stays that way year after year. The other third is chocolate brown, but changes to bluish green when spring comes around. We know also that the atmosphere of Mars contains only 3 per cent as much water as ours and only 1 per cent as much oxygen. That must make it hard going for the Martians, if any. As time goes on, despite the imaginings of some of our fiction writers, there is increasing reason to doubt that we could ever be congenial with people who could live on a planet like that.

Glamour for Teachers

IF A TEACHER GETS A GOOD TIME out of life and is happy, her pupils will also be happy and will learn more. This is the assurance from Dr. Percival M. Symonds of Columbia University. Even beauty aids and dress appeal may yet be part of a new philosophy of glamour in the classroom, he says. We are with him in this, at least part of the way.

Education is virtually the last stronghold of the Puritan spirit. Even bank clerks and morticians smile these days, while there remains something hushed and other-worldly about the pedagogues. In certain progressive schools the teachers do play with their charges, but the real joie de virve is not there.

Let the teacher express herself, too. Why not? A glamour girl would, we are certain, have inspired us with a deeper determination to excel in our courses than ever the unpersonable Miss Mary of school tradition could accomplish. We didn't want to grow up to be like her; not if we could help it.

Hopi Indians, says an item, are proving they can still create beautiful designs for pottery; and still more beautiful prices.

Japanese are reported losing interest in the Chinese war because of China's continued resistance. Some people are always taking the fun out of things.

Dr. Dafoe says he doesn't spank the quints, and the situation can be appreciated. How would the doctor's hand feel after one day with five children.

Members of a turkey growers' association at their meeting in the east dined on roast beef. Maybe they didn't want to bite the bird that's feeding them.

Not long ago parents sent their youngsters to a camp near town to get rid of them during vacation time. Now they're driving out to see them every night.

Guests at a traditional English dinner were handed a threaded needle, told to "take this and be thrifty." Over here the accompanying message would be: "Here, go darn your own socks."

The late Havelock Ellis is said to have studied the family trees of 1,000 British men of genius and to have found that 16 per cent of these talented people were sons of clergymen, seven of lawyers and three of doctors. It is probably true that goodness begets genius as often as genius begets genius—or oftener.

That Barter Deal

From the Petrolia Advertiser-Topic

Because of Canadian protests wheat was not included in the barter deal signed last week by authorities acting for the Britisn and the United States governments. But under the deal 600,000 bales of United States cotton valued at $30,000,000 will be exchanged for 80,000 tons of British rubber.

Proponents of the deal have gone out of their way to make it appear that the cotton and rubber will not find its way into commercial channels to interfere with private trade, and there is an anxious note lest the public might sometime consider that swapping or barter would clean up world surpluses and may even cause a shortage unless the peoples of the world get busy and produce more.

We do not believe the public are as dull as their rulers think they are. This single case of exchange of goods between the two greatest democracies in the world is pregnant with possibilities for future good. While the totalitarian states, which started the style, are limited as to raw materials and are inclined to become bitter because of that fact, the democracies have the means of leading them into the right pastures and by sharing raw materials and markets, make them forget what they wanted to fight about. It is a great opportunity.

Thoughts

So let all thine enemies perish, O Lord; but let them that love him be as the sun when he goeth forth in his might.—Judges 5:31.

The fine and noble way to destroy a foe, is not to kill him; with kindness you may so change him that he shall cease to be so; then he's slain.—Aleyn.

Loose Ends

SAINTS PRESERVE US

THAT DISAGREEABLE old gentleman, St. Swithin, is the leading figure at our lake these days. He is invoked morning and night. He is discussed, berated and feared. So far, St. Swithin has had his way. Since it rained on his day it has rained every day, at least for a few minutes. The little boy from next door is determined that it shall remain an unbroken record for 40 days, as prescribed in the old familiar legend, and yesterday, when it seemed that the wet spell was going to be broken, he was able to rescue the reputation of St. Swithin by announcing that it rained for two minutes just before midnight.

Everybody here and, I suppose, in town, takes the rain as a kind of personal affront, a grievance against nature. Everybody complains and there is a feeling that nature has committed an unwarranted offence, not against a few individuals, but against a whole community, against a powerful and important people, against a mighty tribe.

If you want to comfort yourself these days when your tennis game is spoiled, your holiday ruined and your family in despair, think about the weather scientifically. Remember that the weather all over the world is of no particular importance to nature. It has other business besides our holiday season. It is not much concerned with the tourist business to Vancouver Island or the comfort of persons like me at our lake. I doubt, indeed, that nature has ever heard of our lake, or of Victoria, or of Canada, or of the provincial government.

I mean to say, it is quite conceivable to a bold thinker like me that Vancouver Island could go without a ray of sunshine, or a tourist all summer, or sink into the sea, without worrying the powers that make the weather. It is quite conceivable to me that the whole earth could disappear in smoke tomorrow and make no impression on the universe.

You ought to remember when you blame nature for neglecting you that she has other business to keep her occupied during this season. At the moment she is juggling about through space some trillions of fiery hells a billion times as large as our third-rate sun, keeping them all in nice balance, keeping them fiery and hot and hellish.

This is the work she loves. This is her real job. The earth and its weather are a matter so small with her that she has undoubtedly forgotten them for the moment. We are lucky she hasn't forgotten us before now. One of these days she is going to give up the earth as a bad job altogether and let it die of cold. A summer without sunshine thus is nothing to worry about. Just wait until it is always winter.

LOONS

AT THIS POINT the little boy from next door invaded my cabin by the lake to impart some scientific information. He said he had seen six loons on the lake and they were all clamoring and laughing their strange, wild laugh. You know what that means, of course. When loons clamor that way they are calling up the rain. "I don't trust the weather man in the paper," said the little boy from next door. "He only guesses, with a lot of maps and instruments. But you can trust the loons. It's going to rain, all right. You can't trust the weather man, but you can always trust a loon, because a loon knows." So, between St. Swithin and the loons, we seem to be in for an interesting summer.

PRIVATE LIVES

THE PRIVATE LIFE of Charles Dickens has just been exposed, somewhat indecently, by a biographer who had access to the memoranda and memories of his daughter. It turns out now that the rumors of his sins were true enough. He left Mrs. Dickens after many years of married life, and after she had borne him many children, because he wanted to live with his mistress, a young actress, whom he set up comfortably in a London flat. There they lived for some time until their child had died. Later on, the lady, as if to add a Dickensian irony to the affair, married a clergyman.

These facts are going to annoy the Dickens clubs everywhere and distress a lot of good people who have always worshipped him as the spokesman, the champion and the apotheosis of Victorian morality. It is too bad the old illusion has been destroyed, for the average reader will be unable to distinguish between Dickens, the writer, and Dickens, the man. The first is what we are concerned with, not the second.

If you look through English literature you will find that many of the best writers were pretty much of a mess as men. Ordinary morality didn't seem to suit literature, and the lads who were putting down the most exquisitely soulful stuff on paper were usually conducting an intrigue with a show girl. Even Wordsworth, the most religious, the most spiritual and the most elevated of them all, deserted the unmarried mother of his child and left her to go through the French Revolution while he stayed in England and saw a "dark, invisible workmanship" everywhere. I doubt that the lady saw it.

But, really, this is not the point. What these fellows did after working hours is none of our business. Genius flourishes in strange ground, and men capable of uttering divine sentiments at 4 in the afternoon may very well be dead drunk by midnight, and you often are. With men like Dickens we should not inquire beyond 4 o'clock.

Two Denver, Colo., women twins decided to disregard their 95th birthday, and you have to give them credit. Most women start that on the other side of 40.

Hitler Over Italy

By PHILLIP BARRES

Condensed by British World Digest from a series of articles in Paris Soir

"THE FIRST SWALLOW!"—that is how enthusiastic Italians greeted me at the border. But they took away my French newspapers, which had recently been banned. The Germans who were watching stuck out their chests, proud of their allies, and said: "Discipline!"

At Alfredo, the most famous of those little Roman restaurants where you can have the best macaroni in the world for 6 lire, the Germans are taken aback when they see, in the most prominent place, a large photo of Pierre Laval shaking hands with mine host between two French flags. Mine host greets his German guests by lifting a fork.

"Funny people," says one of them, looking around. "In Germany they would have been put in jail long ago."

A TAXI-DRIVER told me: "This is nothing. You ought to go to Turin if you want to see hatred for the Germans. I am a Fascist, but I say that this alliance is a crime."

Some cultured young ladies said to me: "You cannot imagine what it means to be peacefully invaded and 'colonized' by foreigners. If the Axis is defeated we shall be the first to pay, and if it is victorious—well, then, we shall just be an amusement park for the Germans."

It seems that the whole nation's reply to the Fascist government, which puts political necessities before sympathies and antipathies, is: "France has her shortcomings; she is close-fisted; but she is our sister, and the Germans are still our enemies."

Daladier's speeches have made an amazing impression on all classes. A Roman lady, as we were going along in her car, commented on it thus: "We can still understand each other—the French do not repulse us, as our press would have us believe."

WHY IS IT THAT ITALY, detesting the Germans, seems to have fallen into the hands of the Reich and to have become an instrument of pan-Germanic policy? It is a complicated story with a simple theme: Italy is proud and poor.

Her pride makes her insist on all the claims of a great power; her poverty puts her in need of the co-operation of other powers.

During the immediate post-war years she relied economically on the victorious allies; then, after the sanctions conflict, and in view of Germany's astonishing and preferred claims against her and preferred claims against her former allies, thus losing their economic and financial support.

Italy has practically no gold, 3,800,000,000 lire (£43,000,000) being all that the Bank of Italy possesses in gold. That small reserve has to be kept up at any price for use if war breaks out. But without gold it is difficult to make purchases from France, Britain or America. The Italian claims regarding Jibouti and the Suez Canal are partly due to this fact, because the harbor and canal fees have to be paid in gold or on a gold basis.

AS ITALY and Germany have not only similar political regimes but also a similar economic system and complementary products, their union might have come much earlier had not Mussolini developed, together with the democracies, a policy of competing with Germany in Central Europe. After Stresa, however, Mussolini felt that his efforts in Austria and along the Danube could no longer be carried out—that the Rome protocols had ruined him. He therefore decided to make Hitler pay for his abandonment of positions that he could no longer maintain.

What did Hitler risk? Even today, when the Italo-German alliance is at its height, and Germany takes 30 per cent of Italy's total exports, this constitutes only 5 per cent of Germany's total imports. Thus Italy is economically tied to the Reich, but not the Reich to Italy.

ITALY SENDS to Germany agricultural products, bauxite and sulphur; she receives coal, iron, machinery and chemicals; all these exchanges being made on a barter basis. In 1938 Italy received goods from Germany to the value of 3,000,000,000 lire, and delivered to her goods worth only about 2,000,000,000 lire. For the surplus, Germany is willing to receive tourist bonds to the amount of 500,000,000 lire, which Germans use in Italy, and shares in Austrian companies which Italy gave up, thus transforming the Italian debt into a surplus of 200,000,000 lire.

Hitler doesn't do that for sheer love of Mussolini. He takes in politics what he gives up in economics — Mussolini's approval of his long series of surprise strokes, the Duce's signature to the military alliance.

Italy is in sore need of liquid and solid fuel, metals, and certain foodstuffs. Like Germany, she is now under the perpetual menace of an increase in prices. Her only permanent assistance comes from Germany, and her technical ministers are forced to confess again and again that German help is indispensable and that the democracies do not interest them. Thus Mussolini, even if he wanted to resist Hitler's political stranglehold, would be up against his own cabinet, and it is certainly not his foreign minister who would come to the rescue.

But one can overcharge for services rendered. That Germany should do so a hundredfold is the idea of those thousands of Germans who are now dispersed in a professional capacity all over Italy. They permeate the administrations, the military staffs, the Fascist party organizations and the ministries. They know that Germany is playing the same game with Italy as she is playing in Central and Southeastern Europe. Germany exploits the material difficulties of governments by proposing, notwithstanding her own very precarious situation, assistance which gives her a hold on them. Then she binds them to her political and military chariot.

THIS IS THE SUMMARY Hitler envoys to Italy make:

Theory 1: Peace is maintained and Italy remains faithful to the Axis. Then the Reich, supported by her ally, goes on winning advantages for herself wherever she can.

Theory 2: War breaks out and Italy remains faithful to the Axis. Then Italy becomes the spearhead of the Reich, receives the first blows on land and sea, and is made the battlefield. If the Axis is victorious, German influence is definitely established in Rome. If the Axis is vanquished, Germany will try to negotiate a peace at Italy's expense.

Theory 3: Italy, either during a war or in peace time, tries to give up her alliance with Germany. Then Hitler swoops down on Trieste amidst world-wide laughter, with Paris, London and New York delighted at Italy's woes.

FREE TO FOLLOW FOLLY AS WELL AS WISDOM

By William Allen White

No architect, indeed no school of architecture, can draw the blueprint of human progress by which future men may work—even tomorrow. Yet man keeps on building. His unchecked greeds slow him down. But he never stops. He blunders toward the truth which is his light and leading. But to find the truth he must be free—free to follow folly as well as wisdom, until he knows which is which. Without truth, men can never find freedom. And in the binding rancor of chains, cramping economic chains or galling political chains, we can never be wise. We shall drawer nearer to the brave new world only when economic liberty to be kind so unshackles the common man that he may walk upright in self-respect toward the vision of justice in his heart.

DISCREPANCY

In one large American city, it is estimated that $15,000,000 is passed out annually to panhandlers. What's worrying officials is that cups-of-coffee sales do not match the outlay.

PUT RED CARPET IN COLD STORAGE

To the Editor:—Has it never occurred to the mayor and aldermen of the city of Victoria that Their Majesties may make another visit to these shores?

Should they visit Victoria again we shall need another Royal carpet. So why not put the one used on the occasion of the last Royal Visit into cold storage to guard against the moths which seem to infest the City Hall?

Then we should not have to lay out hundreds of dollars for a new one. Storage charges do not amount to much in a year. It would be a shame to cut it up and have squabbles as to where each piece shall go.

As for the book with the Royal autograph in it. That belongs to the city, not to the mayor.

LOYALTY AND JUSTICE

To the Editor:—These days we read so much about war, and the attitude that seems to be taken by our aristocracy is that the young men of Canada should go to fight as soon as war breaks out.

It is quite obvious that it is mostly the poorer class of people that would serve in any war and carry the heaviest part of the war debt. Today thousands of Canadians are out of work and many are on the verge of starvation. Young men eat what they can beg, and sleep in boxcars. They are not given an opportunity to make an honest living. The fear of want and actual want caused many young men and women to turn into criminals. It exalts the lowest, while it tends to crush the noble and divine impulses of human nature.

Canada is a large and wealthy country, and it is ridiculous to note what is happening to our youth. However, our government has done nothing about this very serious question of unemployment. Consequently I think the government has no claim upon the loyalty of our unfortunate people. I cannot understand why these men should go to fight in defence of a country in which they did not have an opportunity to make a living. We talk a lot about freedom, but who wants it when it means freedom from work, freedom from pay, freedom from all the necessities of life?

There is only one way that the government can get the loyalty of its people, and this is by giving social justice to all, work for all. When people have these, they will be proud of their country and will be willing to fight for it. The welfare of the people must come first.

TED DONELLY.

LABOR VETERAN'S VIEW

Great nations plan mighty engines of battle, create poison gas and marshal millions of men and women in their service. Have you ever asked yourself why similar efforts cannot be made to remove the causes of war and organize the world for service and peace?—George Lansbury.

READING HABITS

From Comox Argus

If you have traveled at all in the past 10 years you must have noticed the different type of reading matter you pick up in the buses and on the trains. There used to be a mere sprinkling of good magazines and piles of trash of sex appeal and gangster stuff on every seat. There is plenty of trash read today but there is a leaven of good stuff. The Readers Digest has been such a success that there is now a line of passable imitations on every book stall and in every drug store. These magaines give a smattering of useful knowledge and induce a hunger for more. Then look at the question quizes on the radio: there is no more popular feature. And so knowledge grows from more to more and with knowledge comes tolerance and the ability to see the other fellow's standpoint. We do not learn now merely to make money. What was regarded 10 years ago as highfaluting is now general to the public.

Such tolerance, such growth of culture is the only hope of making self-governments work. People will be more inclined to use their votes properly, and we shall get better governments. It is along this path that the hope of the people who cling to our liberty-loving form of government must move or be snuffed out by others, more efficient, more ruthless.

In Europe we are used to restrictions that you Americans probably cannot understand.—Jan Bata, Czech shoe manufacturer, explaining delays in his arrival on a trip to America.

Letters to the Editor

MODERNISM IN ART AND MUSIC

To tthe Editor:—A lecturer of the local summer school tells the students that good composers "took the material of tone quality, shaped it into melody, added rhythm and harmony and produced music."

She forgot to add the baking-soda. All original musical composition is inspirational. Mozart and Schubert used to say that by some inner hearing they actually heard their music. Mozart used to complain that when the tempo of his music was swift he could not write it down fast enough.

This modernistic realism, as opposed to idealism, is exemplified by the teaching of art at last year's summer school, whereby art students were advised to study telephones and kitchen utensils, etc., for all the world as if we music teachers were to quit our life-long humble discipleship of Mozart and Beethoven and seek for musical progress by studying the noise of telephone bells and the clatter of dish-washing.

When Sir Joshua Reynolds founded the Royal Academy he wrote at great length and with deep earnestness that students could only progress by careful study of the methods and reproductive masterpieces of transcendant artists; by study of Raphael Rembrandt, Lely and Durer, Turner and Titian and the rest of the immortals.

Another summer school lecturer says that "modern music is influenced by the rather brutal and ironic realism to be found in all present-day art."

As these teachers have taught "realistic" art for the last 20 years, what other result could they expect? For they have deliberately repudiated all classic transcendancy, whereby democratic art-progress is halted.

One hopes that when and if democracy wakes up to the fact that democracy's cultural progress can be halted more easily by certain types of education than it can be halted by military Fascism that it will not be too late.

MILK AND DISEASE

To the Editor:—It is impossible to agree with the statement that undulant fever is particularly prevalent in Canada and where it occurs it is probably due to bad sanitation.

Having been supplied by the Ministry of Health with a list of "milk-borne" epidemics reported in the United Kingdom since the beginning of the century, the Committee on Cattle Diseases comments: "The available evidence is not conclusive regarding the importance of milk in the spread of infectious diseases." As to undulant fever, "in practically every inquiry into this disease it has been found that the majority of cases occurred in male adults who did not drink milk." (See "Pasteurization of Milk," Loat). It would be hard to believe that a lad referred to as having stiffened joints suffered through drinking unpasteurized milk. There must have been some other cause.

Incidentally, there has been no rise in the death rate from tuberculosis in England for the last 80 years. On the other hand, the largest epidemic of typhoid on record—accredited to milk—took place in Montreal in 1927. The milk was pasteurized, and eventually the sanitary authorities took charge of the plant.

At the annual congress of the Association of Milk Producers, according to the Dublin Herald of February 16, 1939, Professor T. G. Browne of the Veterinary College of Ireland, "regarded pasteurization as something in the nature of a necessary evil because, while it would render milk safe, it would never render dirty milk clean milk. Pasteurization tended to give the public a false sense of security and he could not regard pasteurized dirty milk as anything other than so much 'cooked sewage'!"

Pasteurization diminishes the amount of lime and phosphorus in milk (Committee on Cattle Diseases) and the late head of the National Institute for Research in Dairying says: "It is by no means easy to replace satisfactorily those constituents which have been altered by its treatment." Much similar evidence might be submitted.

In no case should pasteurization be a compulsory measure; compulsion and regimentation are antagonistic to the ideals and aspirations of a free people. It is unfortunate that so many unnecessary scares about disease should constantly receive publicity.

SAME OLD WOLF

To the Editor:—The "New Democracy" movement which is seeking the support of the electorate is the same old party wolf in a new and fascinating disguise and smacks somewhat of the famous "R.B.B." program previous to the last federal election.

Could it possibly be that it was brought forward because its founder was not the answer to the spinster's prayer of the Conservative Party—"Oh Lord! send us a Man-ion."

Ah, but perish the thought.

We should look askance at the Greeks bearing gifts, however tempting the gifts may be.

That the new platform has, however, deceived even the elect is evidenced by the names of those we find publicly supporting it.

Another "Master Voice" party placed in power would be just as helpless to do anything as are those already in power.

We should weigh well what these would-be leaders promise us, for it was because the German people hearkened to the honeyed words of a Hitler that they are in such sad plight today.

If there is to be a fundamental change in the status quo and a major operation is necessary, it is useless to cut away, piecemeal, the dead and cankerous tissue. A thorough job must be done, substituting for the present "Each for one and all for none" an economy of "Each for all and all for one," where everyone contributes their fair share of all the necessary labor requiring to be done, receiving in return a just share of whatever benefits accrue.

No country would dream, in wartime, of allowing officers or men to act according to individual desire or impulse, but rather would expect and demand absolute co-operation and collective effort. If in wartime, why not then in times of peace, use the same co-operation.

All wishful thinking or statistics to the contrary, every capitalistic country is slipping backwards at varying degrees of speed.

Trade generally is shrinking; machines are replacing manpower, whilst education is being more and more curtailed as school boards find their grants being increasingly cut. Armament making, by replacing peacetime industries, must tend to lower the standard of living owing to decrease in commodities.

One does not therefore have to be a gifted seer to foretell what the end of all this will be.

It is not a Herridge, or any such like, that we need, but a Moses, a Cromwell, who will cut decisively the shackles of superstition, convention and precedent that bind all of us—except a very few—from King to poorest commoner.

CLYDE FRASER.

B.-I. A SPIRITUAL MOVEMENT

To the Editor:—Mr. Moyes was right in saying that "when we were children we spoke and thought as children," we did not start our school lessons with mathematics and astronomy, but with ABC and 1 and 1 make 2; likewise we do not start learning British-Israel truth with pyramidology. The A of that truth is the promises God made to Abraham, in Genesis 12:2 and on through the book they were reiterated. The writer of Hebrews says of those promises (or was it one promise amplified?) Hebrews 6:17-18, "Wherein God, willing more abundantly to show unto the heirs of promise the immutability of His counsel, confirmed it by an oath.

"That by two immutable things, in which it was impossible for God to lie, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us."

Thus, one promise plus one oath equal two immutable things. Dare Mr. Moyes say it is devilish to believe that those two immutable things are still immutable? To quote from a recent article in the National Message: "British-Israel is a spiritual movement. Some through ignorance of the real things for which it stands have thought it not so, but no movement so closely bound up with God and His word as this is can help but be spiritual. Proclaiming lost Israel found, we proclaim God's everlasting faithfulness. Proclaiming Israel redeemed, we cannot help proclaim the Redeemer. Proclaiming the Redeemer as the Redemer of Israel, is it any wonder that sinners hearing and believing are saved? Not saved through British-Israel truth, but saved through Christ the one and only hope of mankind."

It is not our contention that the British being Israel we are going to remain in our sin and yet claim and receive all the blessings of Israel. God has very different plans for us than that. Ezekiel 36:21-22 tells us what He will do and why.

Will Register Canadian Women For Emergency

TORONTO (CP) — Between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 Canadian women, from 16 to 65, will be invited to fill in a questionnaire in the next six weeks by provincial committees of the voluntary registration of Canadian women, Margaret Hyndman, chairman of the executive committee, announced yesterday.

Ontario will be the first province to establish a registration bureau, the chairman said. A meeting of the provincial committee will be held in Toronto August 1, when plans for establishing bureaus in the larger business buildings will be discussed. A week later Senator Iva C. Fallis, national chairman, and Miss Hyndman will leave for a western tour to arrange for provincial and local organization.

The questionnaire is designed to cover completely qualifications and desires of Canadian women who wish to give service in a national emergency.

Women will be asked if they can take children or adults into their homes. They will be required to tell their physical condition—whether their eyesight and hearing is normal, if they can be active on their feet for six hours daily.

Organizing ability for camps and recreational groups of public institutions, experience in catering, buying or cooking food in large quantities is included.

With regard to women taking an active part on farms, the survey asks in detail the experience and training in "shearing sheep, wool processing, curing, canning, commercial preservation of food, operation of farm machinery, poultry and dairy farming."

Examples of more technical forms of training to be tabulated are: Air mechanic, pilot, biologist, chemist, dietitian, first aid worker, motor mechanic, physician, nurse, dentist, telegraph or radio operator, translator, intelligence worker, laboratory technician, surveyor or architect.

More Difficult In Future for Japanese Army

K. C. Lowe, speaking at a special meeting of the Committee for Medical Aid for China, Tuesday evening in the rooms of the Business and Professional Women's Club, thanked the committee on behalf of the Chinese people.

"We are now entering on the third year of the war," Mr. Lowe said. The low, coastal region is chiefly held by Japan. In the second phase of the war in the western Chinese mountainous district, transport will be very difficult for the Japanese army. From now on warfare will not be so easy for them.

"The Japanese may leave an army of, say 500, after capturing a town. This garrison is in constant terror of guerilla attacks because they do not know when or where they will set upon them and they frequently have to be replaced because the guerillas have killed all the Japanese soldiers.

There are daily bombings of towns, often not of military importance. When the Japanese capture a village they slaughter civilians, rape the women and kidnap the children, many of whom are treated in ways too terrible to describe. The more they bomb, the more the Chinese will resist them."

Mr. Lowe affirmed the Chinese people were at last awake and standing solidly behind the government, co-operating to defend their children and homes. The industries were being withdrawn into the interior of China, a free China where there was taking place rapid development of natural resources building up of factories and schools and the training of 2,000,000 recruits for the Chinese army to be used when the time came for the final phase of the war.

"We can only hope that the war will end by the end of next year," he said. "So long as one Japanese soldier remains on Chinese soil, so long will China resist."

Plans were made for a bazaar November 9 in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium, convened by Mrs. G. M Tripp and all possible facilities will be used to give it a Chinese atmosphere. It will be unique in many ways. The Chinese Ladies' Committee will consent joining the Medical Aid Committee, participating in the bazaar on equal status.

In the absence of the treasurer, Miss Ruth Kipling, who presided, reported that $500 had been sent to China since the last meeting in May, $100 on behalf of Miss Soo Yong to Mme. Chiang's Committee for Chinese Orphans, and $400 to the International Peace Hospital.

After a discussion on the embargo and boycott work the committee again went on record as supporting these movements. They were urged not only to refrain from buying Japanese goods, especially silk stockings, but in addition to try and influence their friends.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Hudson's Bay Company and David Spencer Limited for the great assistance given in the blanket campaign, after a report by Mrs. Bridges, chairman of the blanket committee. Not only have they placed hampers in their stores for the receipt of wool, blankets, material, etc., but they have also given considerable publicity to the campaign and co-operated in every way.

Young Heiress Weds Wall Street Genius

NEW YORK (AP)—Whitney Bourne, honey-haired actress and heiress, sailed for Europe yesterday on a three months' honeymoon with Stanton Griffis, a Wall Street genius twice her age.

Once again the 26-year-old stage and screen star startled society by marrying in almost complete secrecy a man to whom only her closest friends knew she was engaged.

Seven years ago, one of the glamour girls of the season, she abandoned society for a career on Broadway and in Hollywood, where her last role was in "Mad Miss Manton" with Barbara Stanwyck.

A Boston native, Griffis was the son of a clergyman and is a Cornell graduate. Miss Bourne shared the fortune of her grandfather, Frederick G. Bourne, co-founder of the Singer Sewing Machine Co.

GUEST AT CITADEL

QUEBEC (CP) — Patrick Ashley Cooper of London, England, governor of the Hudson's Bay Company, was a guest today of Lord Tweedsmuir at the vice-regal quarters at the Citadel. Mr. Cooper will sail for England shortly.

Princesses Do Own Housekeeping

LONDON (CP)—Queen Elizabeth encourages independence in her two daughters by allowing them to use the little house presented to Princess Elizabeth by the people of Wales. But the Princesses have to do the housework themselves.

They have regular spring cleanings with Princess Margaret Rose polishing and washing and Princess Elizabeth ironing. When new window curtains or chairs are wanted the sisters have to buy the articles themselves out of their modest pocket-money.

This is revealed in "King's Nurse—Beggar's Nurse," by Sister Catherine Black, published by Hurst and Blackett. Known as "Blackie" to all the Royal family, Sister Black tended King George V constantly from the time of his serious illness in 1928 until his death seven years later.

You can't put up too much home-made Jam and Jelly!

MAKE THEM WITH CERTO...IT'S EASIER QUICKER - GIVES SURER * RESULTS!

What are the most important qualities in jam or jelly? Taste, texture and colour rate highest. And judges in exhibitions and contests usually allow 75 out of a possible score of 100 for taste and texture alone!

Certo gives you a grand start in fresh, natural taste as well as colour, because you can use luscious, fully-ripe fruit instead of the under-ripe fruit commonly used in old-fashioned jam and jelly making. The tested Certo recipes all ensure a firm, desirable texture.

That is why 3 out of 4 jelly champions use Certo.

5 Reasons Why it's so easy and quick to make better Jams and Jellies with Certo

1 CERTO SAVES TIME
Once your fruit is ready, it takes only 15 minutes to make a whole batch of jam or jelly with Certo.

2 CERTO SAVES WORK
With Certo you only give a one-minute to two-minute full, rolling boil for jam—for jelly a half-minute to a minute. That's a third of the time usually needed for the old-fashioned long boil.

3 THE SHORT BOIL MEANS MORE JAM OR JELLY
With Certo you get about half again more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit. The boil is so short that very little juice can boil away as it does in wasteful long boiling.

4 BETTER TASTE—BRIGHTER COLOUR
Certo jams and jellies retain all the natural taste and colour of the fresh fruit. The boil is so short it cannot affect the taste or darken the colour.

5 SURE RESULTS
With Certo you get free, easy-to-follow recipes. They explain every step and give the exact timing. Follow them carefully and you can always expect good results.

FREE BOOK OF 72 RECIPES
Under the label of every bottle of Certo there is a book of 72 tested recipes for jam, jellies, marmalades and conserves. Since different fruits need different handling, Certo gives you a separate recipe for each fruit... Be sure to follow each recipe exactly.

Don't disappoint your family. Put up lots of jam and jelly ready for the long winter months. It's done so quickly and easily in this sensible, modern way—with Certo. Put Certo on your grocery order.

PARENTS GIVE UP BABY; HIKE WEST

Ontario Adoption Solves Problem for Pair Seeking New Home

BURLINGTON, Ont. (CP) — Baby Emery Horton played happily in his new home here today while his parents trudged wearily toward western Canada, sad at leaving their child behind, happy that friendly strangers had offered the baby a haven so he would escape the hardships they faced in getting re-established in new homes.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Horton, their possessions all on their backs, rested near the Mercoff farm yesterday as they walked toward western Canada.

John Mercoff, 14, saw the parents sitting under a tree with the baby playing in front of them. He ran to his house and got milk for the baby. Mr. and Mrs. John Mercoff invited the young couple into the house.

Soon the wanderers told their story of futile efforts to make a living in the Grimsby district and their plans to walk and hitch-hike to western Canada, hopeful of carving a new life for themselves.

The host and hostess soon astonished the parents by asking if they could adopt the boy. Official sanction was obtained and today the parents continued their journey westward, with their child happy in the new home.

More Milk for Vancouver Children

VANCOUVER (CP) — Distribution of free milk to undernourished school children was advocated before the Metropolitan Health Committee yesterday by Alderman John Bennett.

Discussion of the idea modeled on a program already under way in Great Britain for improving health standards, drew from Dr. Stewart Murray, medical health officer, an assertion that Vancouver citizens use only half the quantity of milk they ought to have.

His figures persuaded the board to order a full report from him on local milk consumption, with particular reference to malnutrition among children.

Alderman Bennett said he had been told "a lot of milk is thrown away" to protect the fluid market price structure.

Co-op Society Hears Reports

The Victoria Co-operative Consumers' Society reported a steady increase in business during the first six months of this year at the semi-annual meeting at 504 Fort Street, Tuesday evening.

A membership increase of 20 to 127 members was reported by Mrs. C. Hudson, and growing patronage of the co-operative store on Government Street was reported.

Announcement was made of study classes in consumer co-operation and credit unions to be conducted during the fall and winter in conjunction with the University of British Columbia extension department. Harold Wilson reported on behalf of the young people and Mrs. Foster for the ladies' guild.

Rose Hartwick Thorpe Dies in San Diego Just After 89th Birthday

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The days after her 89th birthday, death took Rose Hartwick Thorpe, poetess whose famous work was "The Curfew Must Not Ring Tonight."

Victim of a heart attack, Mrs. Thorpe died last night at the home of her son-in-law, Eli Barnes, with whom she had been living. Her daughter died several years ago.

Other works written by Mrs. Thorpe included "Fred's Dark Days," "Nina Bruce," "The Fenton Family," "The Chester Girls," "The Years Best Days," "Temperance Poems," "Ringing Ballads," "The Yule Log" and "Poetical Works of Rose Hartwick Thorpe."

NEW GOLD STRIKE IN ZEBALLOS AREA

GOLDBRIDGE, B.C. (CP)—Miners in this Cariboo community were excited by a report yesterday that Wilfred Murray, Pioneer Mine employee, had struck a rich find of gold in Bidwell Creek, 30 miles north of Zeballos on the west coast of Vancouver Island, while on a "prospecting holiday."

According to one of the mine's engineers who flew to the scene of the strike, the ore Murray found contained 12 ounces of gold to the ton and was from a defined vein.

The word here was that Murray's companion, Sandy Sanderson, got tired of prospecting and took a job at a Zeballos mine one day before the strike.

GLORIA'S GLORIA BECOMES A BRIDE—It seems but yesterday that Gloria Swanson was playing young heroines on the screen—yet here's her daughter as heroine in true love story. TRUMPET BANDS PLAY SATURDAY

Competition Between Victoria and Vancouver Players at Buildings

Victoria and Vancouver trumpet bands will vie for honors Saturday evening in a contest that is arousing considerable interest and friendly rivalry.

The competition will be staged outside the Parliament Buildings at 7.30. Victoria will be represented by the trumpet band of the 5th B.C. Coast Brigade under Drum-Major Wharton and Trumpet-Major McKinnon. Vancouver will be represented by the 15th Vancouver Coast Brigade. The Vancouver band will be under Drum-Major T. Packenham.

Both bands will be in the full dress colorful uniforms of their respective regiments, the trumpeters of the 5th wearing helmets and the men from Vancouver wearing busbies. After the competition the bands will march through the city to the Armories.

The competition is the first of what it is hoped will be a series of competitions, and besides local people interested and Vancouver people coming over for the competition, it is anticipated that many tourist in town will witness the competition Saturday at the Parliament Buildings.

FORMER VICTORIAN SUES FOR $300,000

TORONTO (CP)—A section in the Ontario statute which empowers a magistrate to commit an accused person to a mental institution is one which places the liberty of any subject in jeopardy, Mr. Justice George A. Urquart said in a judgment yesterday.

Mr. Justice Urquart ruled Magistrate E. S. Livermore of St. Thomas could not be compelled to answer certain questions put to him in examination for discovery by counsel for John R. Green, St. Thomas lawyer, formerly of Victoria.

The magistrate is one of five men being sued by Green for $300,000 damages as a result of what Green claims was his false arrest and detention in the Ontario hospital at London. Green was arrested in 1935 on a charge of infringing the Liquor Control Act. The prosecution on this charge was not proceeded with, but Magistrate Livermore ordered Green's committal to the hospital.

Britain Buys Wheat

LONDON (CP)—The government recently has made a "considerable addition" to its wheat reserves, W. S. Morrison, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, told the House of Commons yesterday.

Dog's Diplomatic Immunity Debated

NEW YORK (AP)—Whether a dog owned by the representative of a foreign government enjoys the same diplomatic immunity as his master is puzzling Magistrate Peter Horn.

A patrolman gave Mrs. Heinz Thorner, wife of an attache of the German consul-general's office, a summons for allowing her black cocker spaniel to run loose in front of her home without a muzzle or leash.

Mrs. Thorner, unable to appear in court yesterday to answer the summons, raised the issue of diplomatic immunity in a letter to Magistrate Horn, who said he would ask counsel for the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals for an opinion.

Infuse 6 heaping teaspoons of Salada Black Tea in a pint of fresh, boiling water. After 6 minutes strain liquid into 2-quart container; while hot, add 1 to 1½ cups of sugar and juice of 2 lemons, strained; stir until sugar is dissolved; fill container with cold water. Do not allow tea to cool before adding cold water or liquid will become cloudy. Serve with chipped ice. The above makes 7 tall glasses.

ONTARIO FRUIT MEN BONUS EXPORTS

New Marketing System Expected to Stimulate Widespread Industry

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario fruit farmers, unnoticed by the public they serve, have fashioned a modernized marketing machine with such latest equipment as price fixing and bonsuing of exports to stimulate an industry which means $5,000,000 annually to the 10,000 commercial growers in the province.

The fruit growers have done much to solve their own problems. Grower-processor conferences with government officials as referees have ironed out many of the industry's ailments.

Here in brief is a summary of the prospects for Ontario's major fruit divisions:

Latest form of co-operation in the industry came this year with growers of peaches and cherries agreeing to pay canning firms on a percentage basis for all fruits exported.

Apple producers' efforts to capture consumer favor will result next winter in an extensive newspaper campaign with growers contributing on a voluntary basis.

Officials are fearful for the overseas market and if Nova Scotia apples, of which 90 per cent are exported, are turned on the Quebec market, there will be further competiiton for Ontario and Quebec, a natural Ontario market.

A better outlook faces the 2,000 growers of Ontario's most aristocratic fruit, the peach. Production is expected to top 1938 yields, when the crop return was worth $739,700. Growers will pay the processors 1-16th of a cent a pound for every pound of peaches exported. This bonus will constitute substantfial aid to the canning firms.

Niagara district grape growers forecast better-than-average production of perhaps 20,000 tons and a cash return topping the $1,000,000 mark.

20,806 VETERANS GET ALLOWANCES

Annual Payments to Canadians Who Saw Service $7,200,000

OTTAWA (CP)—A total of 20,806 war veterans who served in a theatre off actual war now are receiving the war veterans' allowance, Hon. C. G. Power, pensions minister, said here yesterday. This involves an annual outlay of $7,200,000.

The allowance is a grant of $20 a month to unmarried and $40 to married veterans who are unable either through age or other physical disabilities to keep themselves. It has operated since 1930.

There are 282 widows who receive the $20 a month. The 1930 statute provided that when a recipient died, his widow would continue to receive the allowance until one year after her husband's death.

Of the recipients, 11,171 are more than 60 years old. The figures include 360 veterans of the South African War.

There are 7,136 veterans receiving the grant resident in Ontario. British Columbia comes next with 5,072. The explanation given by officials is that many veterans from other parts of Canada move to the Pacific coast when they are granted the allowance. The mildness of the climate, together with opportunities to live modestly within the $40 a month, add to the attractiveness of British Columbia.

Quebec has 2,071 recipients, Manitoba 1,910, Alberta 1,620, Saskatchewan 1,211; Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, 1,166 and New Bruniswick, 620.

Timber Sense Lacking in B.C.

But Forestry Methods Among Most Advanced in World, Says Expert

British Columbia's forestry work, especially in stock mapping, is amongst the most advanced in the world, but the people of the province are notably backward in developing an understanding of their forest resources, in the opinion of Major A. H. Lloyd, British timber expert, who arrived here yesterday.

Major Lloyd, who is a lecturer in forestry at Oxford University and head of the Royal Engineers' section of the university officers' training crops, is in Canada to study the Dominion's forest resources and methods for the Imperial Forestry Institute of Oxford.

His mission is partly military in nature because of the extensive use of timber in Britain for temporary buildings and the need to find sources of supply for pit and bomb shelter props in the event war cuts off access to the Baltic.

"We are surprised in England that t here is still necessity for forestry propaganda in a timber province like British Columbia," he said, "and that the public is not realizing the need for scientfic forestry. In the Scandinavian countries everybody has a timber sense. In that you in British Columbia are even behind Soviet Russia."

STUDIES AIR SURVEYS

Major Lloyd will spend three or four weeks in British Columbia, and hopes especially to study some of the aerial survey work being done by the provincial forestry branch.

The Imperial Forestry Institute, he said, intends to use the methods developed in British Columbia in the stock mapping of African forests, especially in Niagara.

He spent two days of last week in a seaplane over northern Ontario and got the impression that the forests of eastern Canada were being steadily depleted of large-size timber, and that the area's chief importance to Britain was now in supplying pit and bomb shelter props, which in the past have come chiefly from the Scandinavian countries.

Major Lloyd was in Alberta in 1914 and went overseas with the Canadian Expeditionary Force. During four years' service in France he was awarded the Military Cross with bar and was mentioned in dispatches.

After the war he took a degree in forestry at Oxford, and spent some years in the Indian Forest Service in Burma.

CRISIS IN EUROPE

He came to Canada directly from France, where he had been making a tour of inspection of fortifications with engineer officers of the French general staff.

"In France I found a conviction that the next three months form the critical period, and that if we reach October without war we shall be secure, as both the French and ourselves are convinced that next year the armaments of Britain and France will be preponderant, and the axis powers will then be unlikely to launch a successful campaign."

The danger was so well recognized in France, he said, that factories had gone from 40-hour to 60-hour weeks without any sign of protest from the workers.

In Britain many temporary buildings were being put up, some for military purposes and some for schools, and western red cedar was being extensively used in them. He had himself recently lined the dugout in his garden with the British Columbia wood, he said.

Painful Piles

Can Be Quickly Relieved

If you think there is no way to relieve the misery of piles, it's because you don't know of HEM-ROID, an internal medicine, from a prescription written by Dr. Leonhardt, a western physician.

The real cause of piles is on the inside—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel, with the tiny rectal veins full of stagnant, impure blood.

Dr. Leonhardt decided the way to relieve piles was internally, with a medicine which would ease the congestion of blood in the veins of the lower bowel and help to heal and restore the sore, tender spots. After many tests he wrote the prescription which has been so successful in giving quick relief from pile misery, it is now offered to you with our promise that you may have your money back if you are not completely satisfied after using one bottle.

No matter what kind of piles you have or how long you have had them, HEM-ROID must show you the quick, clean way to get rid of your pile misery or your money will be given back to you. MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores or any other druggist can supply you with HEM-ROID and will back up this promise.

TRIBUTES PAID AT RINFRET FUNERAL

Prime Minister King and Colleagues Honorary Pallbearers at Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Hon. Fernand Rinfret, who knew the tumultous acclaim of thousands during his political career in Quebec, received a last, hushed tribute today at imposing funeral services.

The late Dominion Secretary of State and former mayor of Montreal, was buried in Cote des Neiges Cemetery after solemn requiem mass in St. James Cathedral. He died July 12 at Los Angeles in his 57th year.

In compliance with a wish expressed in the bachelor statesman's will, full state honors were not accorded. But the funeral, attended by an estimated 2,000 persons, was among the most impressive in the city's history.

Headed by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, cabinet colleagues acted as honorary pallbearers with other prominent Liberals.

Behind the flag-draped casket, accompanied by escorts of the Montreal police department, Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the Legion of Frontiersmen, walked representatives of the Quebec government, the city, foreign consulates and of Canada's political parties.

Present also in the long cortege were members of the bench and bar—conferes of the deceased's brother, Supreme Court Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret—along with delegates from various Dominion Government departments and numerous societies.

The Governor-General was represented by Lieut.-Col. Henri DesRosiers, honorary aide-de-camp.

Walking together were a numbers of newspapermen, some of whom were members with Rinfret of a group of journalists which went to France toward the close of the Great War to tour the western front on invitation of the Canadian government.

NEW SUPPORT OF DEMOCRACY URGED

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Canadian industrialist today credited a common love of democracy for the friendly relations between the Dominion and the United States and warned that both nations must resist temptation in "difficult" days to "turn to something new and revolutionary.

"There is nothing than can be accomplished by any other form of government that a democracy cannot more expediently accomplish," said W. L. Houck of Niagara Falls, vice-chairman of the Ontario Hydro-electric Commission, in an address at the Lions' International Club convention.

"We often hear it said that what we need is a good, strong dictatorship," he said. "It would take a great deal to convince me that one man, preserved in office by military strength and accountable only to himself, could accomplish more than a government preserved in office by the will of the people and accountable to the people. I see no advantage in trading our polling booths for concentration camps.

"We have come too far to permit ourselves to backslide. The traditions of our form of government are too deeply ingrained for that."

SAWS SING AT SOOKE—The log bucking contest attracted many onlookers at the Sooke Community Association's sixth All-Sooke Day on Sooke River Flats yesterday afternoon. Winner of the event, which was fought out in two heats, was Ed Sundberg of Ladysmith, working the farthest saw in the above picture.

SNUBS HITLER — Marian Daniels, San Francisco dancer, stated July 18 through her press agent in Paris that she had refused an invitation to dance in Munich for Chancellor Adolf Hitler. She said an engagement in Paris, where she is playing the cabarets, prevented her accepting the Munich invitation. On July 17 came news that Miriam Verne, another U.S. dancer, had refused a similar invitation because she had a booking in Italy that night.

HILL'S CORNER PARADE WINNERS—Gordon Bennett (seated in wagon) and Donnie Pimlott, are shown in the top picture with their flower-bedecked wagon which won them first prize in the annual Hill's Corner parade, sponsored by Norman C. Hill, yesterday at Victoria West Park. On the lower extreme left is Colin Trowsdale, four-year-old, dressed up as Dopey of the Seven Dwarfs. He won third prize. The youngster pictured on the near left, dressed up as Mae West, is Arthur Courville. He did not win a prize, but his get-up was an applause winner.

RESCUE PLANE CRASHES—Urgent calls for help sent out by the ketch Atlantis from a spot in the Atlantic some 160 miles out of New York brought coastguard seaplane V-164 soaring out speedily. The plane's crew picked up 34-year-old George Priest, member of the vessel's crew, who was stricken with pneumonia. The plane roared away. Suddenly another distress signal crackled through the ether, this time from the V-164. The plane crashed into the sea shortly after leaving the Atlantis. Three men, including Priest, were killed outright. Five who survived were picked up from the fast sinking wreckage by this whaleboat from the Atlantis, the first boat on the scene. Seconds after this picture was taken, the plane went to the bottom.

WOOED ONE TWIN—WED THE OTHER — Albert Kamens of Philadelphia wooed, and thought he won, Madeline Shamblin of Charlestown, W.Va. But she broke the engagement, whereupon he married her twin sister, Pauline. They are pictured honeymooning at Galveston, Texas.

"GOOD QUEEN BESS"—A triumph of the make-up man's art is Bette Davis, hailed widely as the outstanding screen actress in dramatic ability, seen here all ready to go before the cameras to portray Queen Elizabeth in a forthcoming production. The gown and jewelry worn by Miss Davis are all faithful copies of those that adorned "Good Queen Bess" in the days when her renowned seamen were spreading the Empire to all corners of the globe.

RAT KILLER AND MASTER—Richard White, 840 Johnson Street, is shown holding his four-year-old fox terrier, which has killed over 135 rats during the last eight months. Mr. White takes his dog for walks along the beaches around Victoria, especially on Dallas Road, and the pup has found good hunting places for his rat-catching instincts.

Sooke Day Success

Thousands Pack Flats for Yearly Festival; Logging and Water Sports

Between 3,000 and 4,000 people—men and women and boys and girls from all over lower Vancouver Island—packed the Sooke River Flats yesterday afternoon, and all were in holiday mood.

The weather gods had done everything in their power to help along All-Sooke Day. The morning clouds cleared away just in time for the start of the Sooke Community Association's sixth yearly fair: it was hot, but not too hot; bright, but with a few woolly clouds for variety.

Because the woods and the sea provide much of the Sooke district's livelihood, logging and water sports had the biggest place in the program, but there was a good leaven of other events—races, serious and comic; a ladies' nail-driving contest; jumping; horseshoe pitching; something mysterious called a "Sooke Gold Rush," and a whole midway as well.

The crowds milled happily about the flats, crowding around the space where loggers, stripped to the waist, quickly bucked through three-foot logs, lining the river bank to watch canoe obstacle races, cheering themselves hoarse as tug-of-war teams pulled against each other, trying their luck at bingo games or their skill at knocking down coconuts with baseballs.

The two barbecue pits—one for salmon, the other for beef—had their regular All-Sooke Day boom.

Much of the crowd stayed on until the evening, then moved over to the new Sooke Community Hall for a dance to the music of Bert Zala's orchestra.

TUG-OF-WAR THRILL

The most frenzied excitement of all was caused by the tug-of-war for the Daily Colonist Challenge Cup, won by an eight-man team from the Elder Logging Company, coached by Harry Vogel, in a three-heat battle with a Sooke team skippered by J. Forrest.

The teams were so evenly matched that the longest of the three pulls lasted 18 minutes.

Harry Helgeson of Sooke repeated his success of last year to win the log-rolling contest and retained the Sooke Community Association Cup. W. Auchinachie, Duncan, was second.

G. Deuchars of Duncan carried off the Sooke Liberal Association's cup for chopping the fastest through a 12-inch square balk of timber. Ed Deuchars, Duncan, was second.

E. Sundberg of Ladysmith repeated his success of last year in the log-bucking contest and retained a challenge cup put up by the community association. Allan Hyde, Duncan, took second place.

Ed Robinson of Sooke won the Sooke Canadian Legion Branch's cup for tree-chopping. G. Deuchars placed second.

In the water sports section, Jasper Charles, Beecher Bay Indian, retained the challenge cup presented by P. W. de P. Taylor for log birling. Pat Colclough, Victoria, was second.

The Sooke Community Cup in the ladies' nail-driving contest was again won by Mrs. M. A. Clark of Shirley.

Other results were as follows:

Boys five to eight years, 50-yard handicap—Gerry McDonald.

Girls five to eight years, 50-yard handicap—Lorraine Foster.

Esquimalt Boy Wins Baby Show

Arthur William Bayliss Awarded Times Trophy In Sooke Contest

Arthur William Bayliss, dimpled, fair and just 10 days more than one year old, drove home from Sooke yesterday with a big silver cup proudly propped up on the seat beside him.

He had been chosen from among 38 boys and girls of ages all the way from two months to 18 months to win the Victoria Daily Times Trophy, highest award at the baby show which was one of the main features of All-Sooke Day.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bayliss of 849 Fleming Street, Esquimalt. He went to Sooke with his mother; his father is away at Penticton at present working as an orderly.

Four other prizes were presented by the Times to winners in other classes.

Sixteen-month-old Wesley Arden, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Arden, was picked out as Sooke's finest baby in the contest. Mr. Arden is employed at the Sooke fish traps.

Diane Downs, seven-and-a-half-month daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Downs of Maddock Street, Saanich, carried off the prize for the best baby from other rural districts. Her father works in the planer mill at the Cameron Lumber Company plant.

Jeanne Kathleen Smith, 17-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Smith, who run a mink farm at Saseenos, came second in the class for Sooke babies, and tiny Dianne Louise Oliver, whose father, S. P. Oliver, lives on the Saanich Road and drives a truck for a living, was second in the outside Sooke class. She is only five-and-a-half-months old.

300 in Hill's Corner Parade

Victoria West Children Take Part in Annual Event Sponsored By N. C. Hill

Victoria West Park presented a gay scene yesterday afternoon when hundreds of bright-faced youngsters, ranging from the baby class to early 'teen ages, took part in the Hill's Corner annual parade and carnival, sponsored by Norman C. Hill. Many parents and friends of the children were on hand to watch the program.

Coconuts, ice cream and gifts were given the kiddies during the afternoon and Johnny Gow entertained them with his popular Punch and Judy show. A number of kiddies with their pets entered the dog show which climaxed the program.

The program opened at 2 with a colorful parade through the district. It started at Hill's Corner and finished up at the park, where the judging took place.

In this procession 300 gaily-costumed boys and girls took part. They were dressed up to represent hula-hula dancers, peasants, gypsies, clowns, tramps, nurses, farmers, chefs, pirates, sailors, negro mammies, soldiers, maids, ladies, Orientals, Mae West, Dopey of the Seven Dwarfs, Little Orphan Annie and Dutch girls. There were many other costumes that did not represent anything in particular but helped to add color to the show.

PRIZE WINNERS

First prize in the parade was won by Gordon Bennett and Donnie Pimlott, who entered a wagon covered with flowers. Dickie Lee, with a decorated bicycle, was second and Colin Trowsdale, four years old, was third. Colin was dressed up to represent Dopey of the Seven Dwarfs and really made a cute picture.

In the Ogilvie section of the parade special prizes were presented. Barbara Aldred placed first among the girl entries in this group and Daphne Fairall was second and Peggy Jones third. Beverley McClure was fourth and Marie Kerr fifth. The boys' first prize in the Ogilvie section was won by Fred Water, with Lawrence Orchin second and Jimmy Robertson third. Albert and Billy Stickley were fourth and fifth respectively.

Peggy Jones' Pekinese "Bock" won first prize in the dog show and Alisa Campbell's "Tippy" was second. "Perky," owned by Joy Collins, placed third.

The entry in the dog show was small, but all who participated were given a prize. J. S. Dee judged the dog show.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill and staff extended thanks to all those people who assisted in making the show a success.

Bankruptcy Crisis

LONDON — The September crisis induced an architectural crisis, Architect Sergius Chermayeff claimed when filing a bankruptcy plea here. Large contracts were postponed in September, producing his financial embarrassment.

Many Classes at Flower Display

Among the many classes which are open to competition at the summer show of the Victoria Horticultural Society, opening at the Crystal Garden next Wednesday afternoon are three outstanding displays, which will be of special interest to the public.

The district class will consist of a massed display of seasonal cut flowers, arranged on tiered staging, covering about 40 square feet. This class is open to any organization.

The garden display is open to any exhibitor, and it calls for a display of cut flowers which must have been grown by the exhibitor at least a month prior to the show. A staging is provided for this 9x3 feet.

The pot plant display will cover 36 square feet of floor space. Here, the visitor who goes in for a garden in the house will be able to see the many exquisite house plants which can be grown successfully.

This year makes the 16th consecutive time the Horticultural Society has staged its summer show. The midweek date and the central location will add to its popularity this year.

A spider's heart is in its abdomen.

PENSIONS AT SIXTY

At a meeting of the Saanich Conservative Association held at the Campbell Building on July 11, a resolution, initiated by Ward Seven branch, was endorsed by the central executive recommending that the party take steps through their policy in support of changing the Old Age Pension Act to make it applicable to eligible persons at 60 years of age, instead of 70 years, as at present, and that the property confiscation clause be eliminated.

In some European countries, deaf persons wear a special sleeve band to indicate their handicap.

NO WARM SPELL

Victorians who had ideas of a long warm spell when the clouds cleared away yesterday afternoon are probably in for disappointment.

The Gonzales Hill weather bureau this morning forecast fair and warm weather for this afternoon and evening, but a shift of the wind to the southeast tomorrow with clouds and probably cooler weather in the evening.

Victoria Marksman Takes Vancouver Corporation Match at B.C.R.A.

BLAIR RANGE, North Vancouver (CP)—A veteran Victoria marksman, Sidney Carr of the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps, who had earlier missed a championship by the margin of a single point, came through late yesterday to win the Vancouver Corporation match of the British Columbia Rifle Association prize meet being held here this week.

Near the end of the second day's shooting, Sergt. Carr picked off 10 straight bulls to score a possible 50 over the 600-yard range to carry off the Vancouver Corporation Cup and its companion, the Capt Fletcher memorial medal.

All day Sergt. Carr had been thwarted just as it seened inevitable he would carry off a championship. In the morning he scored a 96 out of 100 in the Duff Stuart match only to discover one of three other men with 97's won the trophy. Later he tied with Second Lieut. Jimmy Blair of the Seaforth Highlanders of Vancouver for top place in the Westminster corporation match, but lost out when Jimmy won the shoot off with a 25 to his 24.

But in the last open event of the day, Sergt Carr bore down and burned a hole through the centre of the bullseye for a possible that was not matched.

RASMUSSEN LOSES

A new winner of the Duff Stuart trophy appeared when Sgt. Arthur Biddlecombe of the British Columbia regiment, Vancouver, won after a shoot off with Fusilier Ian Grant of the Irish Fusiliers of Vancouver and Bdr. C. Rasmussen of the Garrison, Esquimalt.

The three marksmen tied with 97s at the end of the regulation distances of 300 and 600 yards, and proceed to shoot five rounds each at 600 yards to try to break the deadlock.

Sgt. Biddlecombe and Fusilier Grant tied again with 23s, but Bdr. Rasmussen carded a 22 and was eliminated.

In the resultant one-shot shoot-off Biddlecombe took passession of the trophy when his next shot, an inner, beat out Grant, who, bothered by a rapidly changing wind fell down with a magpie.

Second-Lieut. Jimmy Blair, Vancouver, ran in five straight bulls in his shoot-off for the Westminster corporation with Sgt. Carr, who started off with an inner and finished with four bulls.

Both men carded possibles Tuesday over the first range of 200 yards, and together posted 34s yesterday over 500 yards to lead the field.

A point behind with 68 came Sgt. Jack Regan, Canadian Scottish of Victoria, who coupled a pair of 34s to tie with Chief Petty Officer J. A. Betts, Royal Canadian Navy; Pte. H. Thorburn, Princess Pats; Sgt. T. Hughes, Seaforths, Vancouver; Bdr. I. S. Brown, Fifth (British Columbia) Coast Brigade, and Mrs. Gwen Spencer Hethey of Victoria, who slipped to a 33 over the last range after blazing a possible 35 in the first range Tuesday.

Worst break of the day was experienced by Sergt. Regan, star Canadian Scottish shot, who scored a possible 50 over 300-yards in the Duff Stuart match, but was caught in a cloudburst while shooting over the concluding range of 600 yards, and could only tally a 46. He dropped two points on his last shot when raindrops collected on his glasses and he scored his first magpie of the meet.

Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, Vancouver regiment, carried off their first team championship of the meet by edging out the British Columbia regiment for the P.P.C.L.I. service trophy. The Seaforth were represented by Capt. J. M. MacNeil, Lieut.-Col. R. M. Blair, C.S.M. Len Willoughby, Sergt. T. R. Hughes and Pte. R. Lake.

Lieut. A. Goodson, Sergt. Paul Gibault, Sergt. A. E. Biddlecombe, Cpl. W. J. Penny and Rfm. W. R. Penny comprised the British Columbia regiment squad.

ROBERT MOSES GROVE does not regret his 14 years of fireball flinging in major league baseball.

It wasn't until 1934, after the Boston Red Sox had paid the Philadelphia Athletics $125,000 for him, that the great southpaw started to pull the string.

But Melancholy Mose insists he would throw exactly the same had he his brilliant career to pitch over again.

"If you don't use that fast ball when you have it you'll lose it." he asserts.

"You're going to lose it anyway, so you might as well make full use of it while you have it.

"I didn't need anything else when I was fast.

"My fast ball was my best ball. So I threw it.

"I actually was too fast to curve the ball white with Baltimore and Philadelphia.

"The ball didn't have time to break enough because I threw what passed for a curve as fast as I threw my fast ball. I couldn't get enough twist on it. So I used to break a comparatively slight hook into the dirt in a clutch and let it go at that.

"Now that I'm not so fast I can really break one off and my fast ball looks faster than it is because it's faster than the other stuff I throw.

"A pitcher has time enough to get smarter after he loses his speed."

Dr. Edward J. O'Brien, the retired football official who is the Boston club's physician, diagnosed the trouble as intermittent claudication, or a spasm of blood vessels, but Grove doesn't yet know what was wrong when his arm suddenly went dead a year ago.

Previous to the crackup, Lefty's fingers would go cold.

Grove had won 14 games up until the time he found himself a pitching cripple.

He didn't win another after that.

It looked bad for him.

Grove tells how he corrected the difficulty himself.

"I didn't do a thing all winter," he explains. "I didn't pitch at all in training camp.

"I was in only three games for a total of only nine innings until I pitched the opening game of the season.

"It was something, believe me, to find that I could still throw.

"My arm's all right now.

Win Game in Last Inning

Eagles Baseballers Come From Behind to Defeat Athletics 6 to 5

After trailing for seven innings, Manager Bill Bridgewood's Eagles staged a smart rally in the eighth to administer a 6 to 5 defeat to the leading Athletics in Rithet Cup baseball last night at the Athletic Park. This was one of the finest exhibitions of the diamond game seen this season, with both teams working well behind their moundsmen.

On the short end of a 4 to 2 count going into the eighth and final inning, the feathered tribesmen boomed out telling base blows and drove four runners over the four-base route.

Eagles got their tieing run and the lead through Jack Blake. Pinch-hitting for Tommy Moore, Blake dropped a hit behind second base and sent Al Condon and Bill Bridgewood over the home plate. Then Dick laced out a hit that drove home A. Barnswell to put the birdmen two runs up. Athletics succeeded only in reducing the gap to one run in their half of the final inning.

HEAVES THREE-HIT BALL

Harry Harding, ace heaver of the Eagles, was in splendid form, limiting the pace-setting A's to a mere three hits. Sonny Walker and Tommy Restell were the only two batters that could get to him. Walker got two of the hits.

Lloyd Cann worked for the Athletics on the hillock and yielded 12 bingles. He got off to a bad start but settled down and heaved good ball until the eighth when the Eagles again collided with his offerings. They got four hits from him in the final session.

Tough luck dogged the footsteps of the Athletics. In the second frame they lost Lawrence Given, one of their outfielders, when he injured his leg sliding into second base. Ted Maitland, who had been out of action with an injured ankle for some weeks, went into the game but had to come out again in the eighth when he hurt his injured ankle again.

Score by innings:

Eagles	20000004—6
Athletics	12010001—5

Batteries—Harding and Bridgewood; Cann and Kuwabara.

Midget league baseball games played last night resulted as follows:

Douglas Rovers 1, Oak Bay Aces 0.

Esquimalt Meat Market 10, Foul Bay Cubs 9.

Fernwood Giants 15, Douglas Dodgers 9.

TIREMEN BATTLE V.L.A. TONIGHT

Manager Frank Shandley's Douglas Tire Shop nine will oppose the pace-setting Victoria Longshoremen in a senior softball game this evening at the Athletic Park. The Stevedores are heading the New Method Laundry by a slim margin and a defeat tonight for the freight jugglers will cost them their top spot.

Longshoremen and tiremen have met in three games that went into overtime this season. The first ended with a decision for the stevedores and the other two finished in stalemates.

Tonight at Hampton Road, Young Liberals and Metchosin will resume their B section playoffs. The Liberals won the first game 8 to 5 and another win tonight will advance them into the final against Esquimalt Athletics. This game was postponed last night.

Games start at 6.15.

In C section last evening, Times softballers checked in with a 9 to 4 win over Cameron Lumber and Harknett Fuel beat Spencers, 14 to 10.

Canadian Scottish scored a 10 to 3 decision over Moose in D section.

Seventh straight triumph was marked up by Cardinals, defending women's nine, last night. They nosed out Hunt's Garage, 11 to 10.

Dodgers Are Fined

NEW YORK (AP)—Leo Durocher, manager of Brooklyn Dodgers, was fined $50 and pitcher Whitlow Wyatt $25 today by President Ford Frick of the National League for their altercations with the umpires in last night's game with Cincinnati Reds.

BENNETT TENNIS VICTOR

SEATTLE (AP)—Dick Bennett of Tacoma, Wash., defending champion, stroked his way to the quarter-finals of the Washington State tennis tournament singles competition yesterday with a 6-2, 6-2 victory over Al Fliegner of Oakland, Calif.

Others to reach the round of eight included Bill Canning of Alameda, Calif., seeded No. 7, and George Rice of Oakland, seeded No. 5.

TIED FOR P.G.A. MEDAL—Ben Hogan, young Texan, now of White Plains, N.Y., blasts out of a sand trap in tieing for qualifying medal in the recent United States Professional Golfers' Association championship with 36-hole score of 138, six under par for Pomonok Country Club course at Flushing, L.I. Note the clubhead far ahead of the ball. Henry Picard won the championship. Hogan tied with Dutch Harrison, Ky Laffoon and Emerick Kocsis.

Ontario On Top

Defeat B.C. Junior Cricketers By 86 Runs To Lead Interprovincial Tourney

nament enters the fourth day of play today with Ontario's eleven holding the leadership by a one-point margin over British Columbia—five and four respectively.

The other teams, Manitoba and Alberta, have two and one.

The eastern team moved to the top yesterday when they beat British Columbia by 86 runs in a match featured chiefly by Ontario's brilliant fielding and the masterful bowling of Johnny Wilson.

Wilson, who scored 70 runs against Alberta Tuesday, sent back five British Columbia batsmen for only 17 runs, a remarkable analysis.

Batting first Ontario scored 156 runs, dismissed the coast for 70, then went back in and with Alan Percival hitting 31 and Ted Parkins 34, counted 73 for one wicket before stumps were drawn. As the second innings was incomplete the score of the first stood, giving the eastern team the match.

MANITOBA WINS

Albera was all out for 68 in their first innings with Manitoba, and the latter went in to hit up 119 before being dismissed at the tea interval.

The Albertans went back and scored 132 for four wickets, then declared, hoping to retire Manitoba for 80 runs or less and win with their total of 200 runs. Their plans were shattered, however, as young Terry Reardon went to the Manitoba crease and hut up 60 of his team's second innings 85.

Reardon, who played on Boston Bruins National Hockey League lineup for part of last winter, hit five sixes in his great stand, one landing in the middle of a neighboring cricket field.

LANGFORD SPEED RACES SATURDAY

The roar of high-powered engines will be in the ears of automobile racing fans once again Saturday night at the Langford Speedway.

Officials announced today that four Seattle cars and drivers have been secured for the meet. They are: No. 1, Swede Linskog; No. 22, Ramsay, who will make his first appearance on the local oval; No. 27, Jimmy Symes; and No. 62, Lou McMurtry.

Local pilots and their cars will be out in full force and an interesting program has been arranged, with a possible Model T race if entries warrant it.

The races, which have been held practically every Saturday night this season, have attracted capacity thrill-seeking audiences for the last three or four weeks.

Frick Refuses to Reinstate Jurges

NEW YORK (AP) — Ford Frick, president of the National League, yesterday said he had turned down a request of New York Giants that shortstop Bill Jurges be reinstated temporarily. Giants have been riddled by injuries.

Horance Stoneham, president of the Giants, asked Frick Sunday night to poll the club presidents regarding reinstatement of Jurges after Frick suspended the player for 10 days and fined him $150 for an altercation with umpire George Magerkurth.

Longden Wins 134

Canadian Jockey's Sensational String of Victors Temporarily Halted By Suspension

CHICAGO (CP)—Johnny Longden, one-time mucker in an Alberta mine, who has been bringing home winners at Arlington Park in clusters these days, began a five-day suspension period today.

The little 29-year-old from Taber, Alta., was set down for five days and fined $100 yesterday for trading blows with Jockey Charlie Wells in the sixth race. Wells suffered the same penalty.

The incident occurred after Longden had scored his second victory of the day, which gave him the astonishing total of 11 first places for the half week. He was on five winning mounts Monday and four Tuesday.

In 19 days' riding of the 21-day-old meet, Longden has had 441 winners, 15 seconds and 9 thirds for a record that far tops that of any other boy at the track. His nearest competitor is Warren Yarberry with 18 firsts, 17 seconds and 9 thirds.

Longden keeps on bringing home the long shots as well as the favorites. He had Threadneedle, paying $17.60, and Catomar at $13.80 as two of his four wins Tuesday.

The two days Longden was absent from Arlington Park in July were no holiday. He flew to New York and had a field day at Empire City track July 7. Longden booted home the winners in the four last races that day.

WON U.S. TITLE

The 106-pound Jock won United States honors last year with 236 wins in 1,115 races. He placed second 168 times, was third 171 times and earned for owners $344,661. That figure was surpassed for the year only by the $385,161 turned in by Nick Wall, who had fewer winners but some larger purses.

Up to date this year Longden has scored 134 victories, leaving him with 103 to go in a little over five months to beat his great record of last year.

Longden advanced to his present status in the racing world from a start in the Prairie Thoroughbred Association circuit of western Canada.

Before that he worked for $2.50 a day in a mine at Taber, Alta. Now he is under contract to Don Cameron, trainer for Mrs. John Hertz, Vera Bragg and J. Shirley Riley, at $17,000 a year—the biggest salary in the business in the United States.

Home Rinks in Bowling Wins

Richmond and Stoddart Skip Squads Into Final of Feature at Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Favored by fine weather, officials of the British Columbia Lawn Bowling Association were able to make fast progress in their annual tournament yesterday that time lost Tuesday through rain was almost made up.

Bowser and Jenkinson rink events were narrowed down to the finals, while consolation "A" and "B" rink competitions reached the semifinals. In addition, many of the Wee McKay, Mercer and consolation doubles matches were played.

Two Vancouver ranks will fight it out for the Bowser silverware, Jimmy Richmond and A. I. Stoddart having skipped their squads into the final round. Last of the out-of-town quartets went out when Joe Barton of Nanaimo, B.C., lost to Richmond in the semifinal 19 to 10. Previously Barton had disposed of Johnny Gavin of Cumberland 23 to 16, and Guy Jackson of Calgary had gone down before Billy Seaton of Stanley Park 17 to 15. Stoddart downed R. Nesbit of Merritt, B.C., 20 to 18 after an extra end.

Charlie Sweetman of Berkeley, Calif., will meet W. Fowler's Burnaby, B.C., rink for the John Jenkinson memorial trophy. The Californians beat Bill Blame of Vancouver 12 to 6 in one semi-final, and Fowler disposed of Bill Lockhart of Vancouver 17 to 15, in the other. C. Watt's, Revelstoke, B.C., quartet went down in the fourth round before J. I. Reid of Vancouver, 16 to 14, and A. Millar of Bellingham, Wash., lost in the fifth round to Sweetman, 14 to 12. R. H. Harrison of Victoria lost to Blane, 15 to 7, in the third round.

LOCAL GOLFERS WILL TAKE PART

Phil Taylor and Art Christopher Play in Washington State Tournaments

SEATTLE (AP) — Strong fields are assured for both the Washington State open and amateur championship golf tournaments at the Seattle Golf Club next week.

Bud Ward, of Spokane, will be defending his crowns in the tournaments. Ward has definitely decided to enter the tournaments, C. W. (Chuck) Adams, president of the Washington State Golf Association said today.

Next Monday's and Tuesday's open title play, over the 72 hole medal play route, will find a veteran star and winner of many titles here and abroad among the contenders.

Phil Taylor, Victoria Golf Club pro, has announced he will come out of semi-retirement to compete here.

Ward will be facing a fine array of talent in the amateur event to start Wednesday including Jack Westland, northwest champion; Harry Givan, Forest Watson, Lee Steil, Lee Griffiths, Rudy Holm, Ernie Johnson, Art Christopher of Victoria, Don Thompson of Portland and many others.

Jack Crawford Wins Over Johnny Doeg

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Two veterans, former champions of their nations, provided the 47th Longwood bowl tournament with its most sparkling tennis yesterday as they battled for the last available berth in the quarter-finals.

They were Jack Crawford, the Australian Davis Cup team member, and Johnny Doeg, powerful southpaw, who retired from serious tennis after he won the United States singles title nine years ago.

Crawford used his smoth change of pace and his cross-court backhanders to cool off Doeg's blistering attack and gain a 6-2, 5-7, 7-5 victory that moved him into the third last round against Gardnar Mullow of Coral Gables, seeded third.

Pitcher Walter Brown Latest to Visit Hospital; Boston Sox Drop Pair

If you're thinking of coming to New York to see the Giants, you can take either the Eighth Avenue subway to the Polo Grounds or a cab to Polyclinic Hospital.

Either place you will find lots of familiar Giant faces, which is the main reason why Bill Terry's outfit is wallowing around in a five-game losing streak, and also why it finished yesterday's 10 to 3 licking at the hands of Pittsburgh Pirates with a second-string first baseman, Johnny McCarthy, pitching for them.

With only Zeke Bonura at first and Alex Kampouris at second in their accustomed positions — all the rest of the places are filled with transplanted hired hands—the Giants are in such sorry shape they have asked to have Billy Jurges, their scrappy shortstop, reinstated. That's so they can hold Jimmy, the bat boy, in reserve in case somebody steps in front of a truck.

It was a surprise yesterday that their newest transfer to the hospital league, pitcher Walter Brown, wasn't more seriously hurt. He slowed up Arky Vaughan's line drive with his right wrist, which bent, but did not break.

Brownie was back at the Polo Grounds today, leaving Harry Daning and Lou Chiozza to play the Polyclinic infield all alone.

EXTRA INNING AFAIR

In the less-crippled sectors of the league, Cincinnati Reds made the Brooklyn Dodgers go overtime again (this was No. 8), which was merely prolonging the Brooklyn agony until the Reds could get a 4 to 2 victory. They did it in 10 innings when Bill Hershberger singled over a drawn-in infield and sent two mates scampering home.

By a similar score, 4 to 2, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Phillies in the longest night game (2 hours 25 minutes) played at Shibe Park this season. A three-run outburst as Hugh Mulcahy of the Phillies gave up four hits in the first inning, did the damage.

Milt Shoffner hurled the rampaging Boston Bees to a 3 to 2 win over the Chicago Cubs in the other National League game. He turned in a sparkling eight-hit job in which he whiffed three and walked three.

Chicago White Sox fooled everybody when they rose up to greatness to whack down the slipping Boston Red Sox, 4 to 1 and 8 to 0, in the American League's only double bill.

In the only other American League game, Detroit Tigers whitewashed Washington Senators, 11 to 0, as Schoolboy Rowe and Archie McKain teamed to produce a three-hit performance. Rowe was forced to retire in the fourth when he was struck above the left kneecap by a line drive.

More Fires Are Under Scrutiny

Two Outbreaks On Rockland Ave. Endanger Old Apartment House

Two more fires—only a few feet apart—and possibly a third, only two blocks distant, were early this afternoon added to the growing list of what Fire Chief Alex Munroe believes to be outbreaks of incendiarism in Victoria.

Quick action by the city fire department prevented an outbreak in the basement of 1249 Rockland Avenue from spreading into a disastrous blaze, which might easily have razed the large and old wooden apartment building.

A second fire was discovered in the tall grass and brush behind the apartment building at the same time, and was quickly subdued.

Less than 10 minutes after the Rockland Avenue outbreak a fire, which the chief believed might be incendiary, swept through dry grass on the high land at the east side of Pentrelew Place, singeing the trunks of several oak trees.

The chief was also trying to trace the origin of a fire in a garage on Mason Street, near Quadra, just after noon.

Child Tells How Little Girl Burned

VANCOUVER (CP)—From the few lisping words of a frightened five-year-old and her parents police today pieced together the story of how Marilyn Pearson was turned into a human torch yesterday—rescued by a passing motorist as she dashed into a residential street.

It was a story of childish inquisitiveness over a suddenly discovered match, turned into tragedy when the head exploded and flew into Marilyn's dress.

"I found a match," Jacqueline told her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Townsend. "When I lit it, it flew and Marilyn's dress caught fire."

Townsend, a former Canadian welterweight boxing champion, retired from the ring several years ago.

Fire in Mill Office

Living quarters at the rear of the office of the disused Point Ellice Sawmill Co. on Pleasant Street were gutted by fire this morning. The loss was not heavy and was partly covered by insurance.

The fire originated in a bed in the back room of the building and had taken hold on the under side of the roof when city fire trucks arrived. The mill is owned by Jagit Singh.

U.S. Flag Incident

HANKOW, China (AP) — A report Japanese soldiers had torn down and destroyed a United States flag flown over the Standard Oil Company's installation at Chenglingki, Yangtze River port, was received Thursday in United States quarters here.

This account said about 100 Japanese infantrymen entered the installation, drove out the Chinese staff and damaged the property. Chenglingki is near Yochow, about 150 miles southwest of here.

Seven Injured in Vancouver Mishaps

VANCOUVER (CP) — Seven persons were injured, two seriously, in a series of traffic accidents in Vancouver late yesterday and early today.

Bertram Craddock was reported in "fair" condition after the automobile he was driving was in collision with another vehicle. He suffered head injuries.

Robert E. Pooley suffered a mangled and fracturel leg when his motorcycle collided with an auto.

Mrs. Charlotte Contoli and her four-year-old daughter were treated at a hospital for injuries received when the car in which they were riding was in collision with another car at a downtown intersection.

William A. Wilson suffered a fracture of one leg when his motorcycle was in collision with an auto, and two cyclists received minor injuries in separate accidents. Masitaka Ida, 45, collided with an auto on Granville Street. Virgil Lane was thrown from his machine when a wheel caught in car tracks.

There are only about 600 miles of divided highways in the United States, to separate oncoming streams of traffic.

Urges Education Go Beyond Self

Dr. J. G. Althouse Says Democracies Must Produce Ideal to Survive

The democracies will not survive for many generations unless their educational systems stop compromising with the "all-too-common present-day ideal of self-gratification" — the object of learning simply as a means of making money and getting ahead in the world — Dr. J. G. Althouse, dean of the Ontario College of Education, this morning told teachers attending the summer school of education.

Dr. Althouse spoke in the auditorium of Victoria High Schol at the summer school's daily extra-curricular hour.

The totalitarian states, he said, had been shrewder than the democratic countries in realizing that children could be taught an ideal which went beyond self-interest, and had used that idealism to inculcate in their boys and girls the idea of a state which demanded obedience of the individual and in return absolved him from responsibility for its actions.

"The question before the democracies now is whether we can set up a bigger ideal than self-interest, and at the same time one which will be equal to or greater than the ideal being set up in the totalitarian states," he said.

"I think we can . . . But it demands honest thinking by teachers, and honesty with ourselves."

Speaking on "Significant Aspects of Modern Education," Dr. Althouse reviewed the changes being made in the administration, subject matter and teaching methods of schools, and suggested the teachers ask themselves the question: "What's Going On Here?"

He believed the greatest administrative step in the deliberate attempt being made by education in Canada to live up to the democratic ideal of equal opportunity was to be found in the tendency toward bigger administrative units, which implied a recognition that education was a common responsibility, which went beyond the boundaries of rich or poor districts.

The program of studies was in a state of revision, and must remain in such a state as long as human society changed, for it was education's duty to fit itself as nearly as possible to the needs of the individual student in the society in which he had to live.

The development of teaching methods needed a balance between honest, hard thinking and practice with the tools at hand. He noted that in Canada teachers were passing beyond the tendency towards fads and fashions in methodology.

Earthquake Recorded

An earthquake of moderate intensity was recorded on the seismograph at the Dominion Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Wednesday. The tremors began at 6.34 p.m. (P.S.T.)

W. A. Thorn, director of the observatory estimated the centre of the disturbance to be 5,450 miles from here, probably in a southwesterly direction.

At Pasadena the Seismological Laboratory of California Institute of Technology reported tonight it had recorded a "large distant earthquake" at 4.34 and 6.43 p.m. (P.S.T.)

The disturbance was reported to be about 5,700 miles distant, the direction undetermined. The laboratory also reported the quake was about 350 miles deep.

Chicago Mayor Relaxes Here

Chief Magistrate of Great City Decides at Last Minute to Remain

So delighted was he with Victoria and the opportunities to rest and relax here that Mayor Edward Joseph Kelly of Chicago decided to stay over in the city on his way to San Francisco to officiate at Chicago Day at the Treasure Island exhibition next week.

The 63-year-old mayor and his wife, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Dunham, will remain in town until tomorrow afternoon at 5, when they will leave for Seattle. They are registered at the Empress Hotel.

The mayor is delighted with Victoria and is enjoying a free and easy few days after an energetic mayoralty campaign in North America's second largest city. He is spending his time in the hotel gardens and on brief drives about the city and environs.

Born in Chicago, Mayor Kelly rose from the poorer section of that great city to become its chief magistrate with offices in its magnificent City Hall.

He was appointed mayor of Chicago to fill the unexpired term of Mayor Anton Cermak, who was assassinated in Miami when riding in an open automobile with President-elect Roosevelt. In 1934, when that term expired, he ran again and last month was returned for another four years.

A prominent Democrat, he is one of President Roosevelt's right hand men and most trusted advisers.

Another powerful Democrat, Governor Herbert H. Lehman of New York State, accompanied by his wife, is expected in Victoria shortly. At present he is resting at Jasper National Park, in the Canadian National Rockies.

Typhoid Warning Cautionary Measure

Although there may be little probability of typhoid infection in Gorge waters, warning signs against bathing there are being posted as a precautionary measure, Dr. Richard Felton, city medical health officer, said this morning.

The signs are being posted as the result of the discovery of a typhoid case in a shack on the banks of the Gorge. The case has since been isolated at the Jubilee Hospital.

As long as the possibility of infection existed it would be advisable for bathers to exercise caution in using the waters of the popular bathing centre, Dr. Felton said. Posting of the signs would also help relieve the city of responsibility in the event of further infection being found which might be traced to the Gorge.

SHORES SEARCHED AT VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP) — Three teen-aged boys were rescued by a city police boat crew late yesterday when their rowboat was caught in the swift rip tide of the First Narrows.

The trio, Bill Stenson, 17; Joe Branigan, 15, and Ralph Chene, 16, had tied their craft to the stern of a coal scow being towed through the narrows, but were unable to row back into the harbor.

Meanwhile police investigated three possible drowning tragedies after reports were received that a wharf watchman was missing and two overturned rowboats were found adrift.

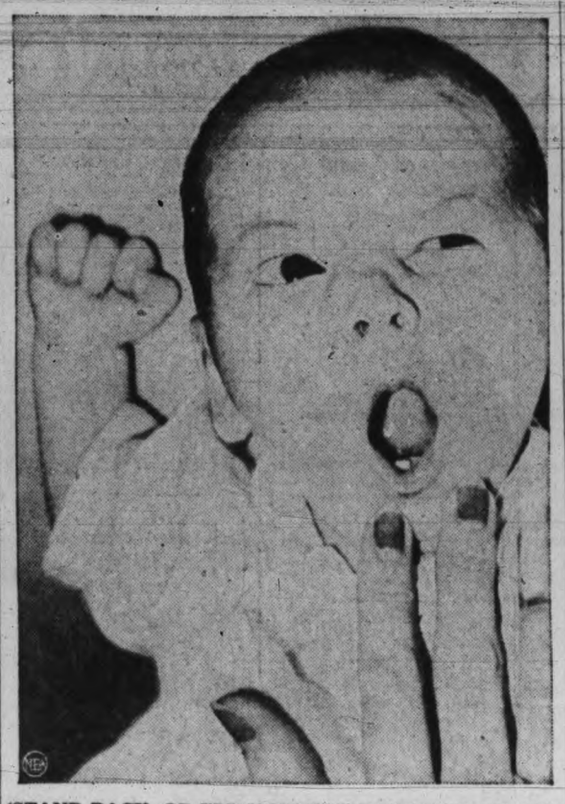
Fears for the safety of John Saul, 34-year-old watchman, led friends to notify police the man disappeared early Tuesday. He wast last seen inspecting boats on the Denman wharf and did not report for work the following night.

British Columbia Police combed the north shore of Burrard Inlet near the Second Narrows bridge last night after an unidentified fisherman reported he had seen an overturned rowboat. No trace was found of the craft, and the opinion was expressed that it might have been carried away by the tide.

On the shore of Stanley Park local authorities picked up a 16-foot flat-bottomed skiff, which drifted in from the waters of Burrard Inlet. Although it had been in the water some time, officials were checking on the possibility it was occupied when upset.

No Roosevelt Visit

VANCOUVER (CP)—President Roosevelt has been obliged to refuse Mayor Telford's invitation to visit Vancouver, the mayor's office was informed today by Paul R. Josselyn, consul-general for the United States here.



'STAND BACK, OR I'LL MOW YOU DOWN!'—Don't come too close, or 3-week-old Raymond Dean Kimbrell of Chattanooga, Tenn., will swing that fist on your jaw. "Kid" Raymond looks mighty serious about protecting that fully-developed tooth he had at birth.

Youth Training Told Rotarians

F. T. Fairey, B.C. Director Of Technical Education, Tells of Program

The Dominion-provincial Youth Training Program was not a works program for unemployed but one of training, F. T. Fairey, director of technical education in British Columbia, told the Rotary Club at its regular luncheon meeting in the Empress Hotel today.

Following the 1929 depression, the young people of Canada were growing up "unemployable," Mr. Fairey said.

The Dominion Government set aside a certain sum of money for a scheme to train the youth of the country. The sum was divided amongst the provinces and each had to contribute as much as was given them, for the training of the young people.

Each program submitted a program of training to Ottawa, keeping in mind the natural resources of her territory.

British Columbia had six different sections in her program. They were: mining, forestry, technical work, rural occupation, physical and recreation and, more recently, student aid.

Those who were given the training had to be between the ages of 16 and 30 years. Anyone was eligible to make application for any of the courses. Last year British Columbia's training work cost $85,000, shared equally with the Dominion Government.

Jack MacKay introduced F. J. May as a new member. Walter Luney presided.

Defence Purchasing Board Starts Work

OTTAWA (CP)—The Defence Purchasing Board has begun to function, and today its personnel was moving into temporary quarters in the Centre Block of the Parliament Buildings.

Robert C. Vaughan, whose appointment to the chairmanship of the board was announced some days ago, has been in close consultation with officials of the Defence Department.

In addition to being chairman of the board, Mr. Vaughan is an associate member of the Defence Council.

Salmon Traps

John T. Tait, district fisheries supervisor, testified that the five Sooke traps extended, respectively, 800 feet, 2,000 feet, 600 feet, 2,400 feet and 2,200 feet seaward from the low-water mark on shore.

Mr. Tait said the traps did not jut out beyond a line between Beechey Head and Sheringham Point. The straits at the place where the traps are run from 12 to 14 miles wide.

RANCHER TESTIFIES

George T. Whitla, rancher of Rocky Point, 10 miles east of the Beechey Head trap, said he had fished commercially for salmon there after the war. He had trolled for salmon with some 20 others using rowboats, and another 12 or 14 who came out during the season.

They had done this for nine years until about eight years ago, when the fish disappeared, Mr. Whitla said. He had fished from Pedder Bay, past Race Rocks to Church Rock, an area just east of the traps, and never more than a quarter mile from shore.

There are three or four men trolling there now, he said, but they catch practically nothing.

(He had not noticed any improvement in the fishing during week-ends, when the traps are open.)

Mr. Whitla told of a visit to the traps on a Monday morning in 1923, at 4.30, and had seen them lifted at that time full of spring salmon running from 20 to 40 pounds.

The week-end closed season for the traps ends at 6 p.m. Sunday.

The questioning of Mr. Whitla on this point brought a protest from Roy Manzer, Counsel for Sooke Harbor Fishing and Packing Co., whether this was a charge against his clients of violating the closed season.

Commissioner Sloan ruled that if there had been any infraction of fishery regulations 15 years ago, it had nothing to do with the present investigation.

Mr. Whitla described another visit to see the traps lifted in 1934, stating that herring caught in the traps were chewed up by the salmon thrashing around in the webbing and were thrown away. He said there were "a lot of herring," but could not estimate how many. He had also seen pilchards caught in the webbing. He told of watching salmon follow the lead into the traps and expressed the opinion the opening in the lead which allows fish to go through when the trap is not operating should be larger than 12 feet across, since the opening of the trap itself was 30 feet wide.

Mr. Whitla said men who previously trolled the waters had had to leave except for a few who had other means of support. There was no commercial trolling today in the area. He had never seen gill-netters operating there, although he understood there were some last summer.

Tides there were strong, he stated with a 10-foot rise and a heavy current. Fog was prevalent during the fall in the straits to the west of Race Rocks.

Mr. Whitla said there was a good deal of phosphorus in the waters, although this condition varies. He had not seen sharks there.

Sharp Reply to Michigan Governor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney-General Murphy branded today "indefensible and absolutely unjust" remarks by Governor Luren D. Dickinson of Michigan in which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's name was linked to drinking habits.

At his press conference, Mr Murphy said:

"Mrs. Roosevelt does not need to have anyone speak for her. She's the most interesting and useful of all first ladies in history. I believe her social responsibility and matchless industry for action and her sense of tolerance are an inspiration to all the young people of this country."

Murphy is a former governor of Michigan.

Governor Dickinson, speaking over the radio last night, said that women he saw drinking liquor without becoming intoxicated at a party in New York may have "learned the formula advised by a prominent lady of our nation" before repeal. He told reporters he was referring to Mrs. Roosevelt.

MINTO, B.C. (CP)—Fire of unknown origin early today destroyed a motion picture theatre, damaged the top floor of the Minto Hotel and swept through an unused lumber yard.

Damage was estimated at $10,000.

The theatre, closed for the last year, was to have been reopened for a benefit dance next Saturday night. Part of furniture on the hotel top floor was removed to safety.

Early Empire Pacific Air Service Urged

LONDON (CP)—A resolution regretting delay in inauguration of British interisland air service in the West Indies was voted unanimously today at the congress of British Empire Chambers of Commerce.

Speakers condemned the principle of the colonies depending solely on foreign airlines. The resolution, submitted jointly by the West Indies and London Chambers of Commerce, also expressed hope the British government survey of the Pacific islands would lead to early inauguration of trans-Pacific air service linking Canada and New Zealand.

The congress adjourned early to permit delegates to attend a royal garden party at Buckingham Palace.

INJURY JINX CONTINUES TO KNOCK DOWN GIANTS

The New York Yankees and the St. Louis Browns were rained out.

COAST LEAGUE

San Francisco's Seals stepped down today from the third-place spot they had held since early May, giving way to the rampaging Sacramento Senators, who have won 16 of their last 18 games in the Coast Baseball League.

The injury-jinxed Seals dropped down into fourth place by a half game last night by losing to San Diego, 4 to 2, at San Francisco, while the Senators were beating Los Angeles at the Angels' park by the same score.

Los Angeles' loss, coupled with Seattle's 2 to 1 win over Oakland, meanwhile put the Rainiers a game and a half in front of the pack, and San Diego's win enabled the Padres to trade places with Oakland in fifth place.

At Seattle, Hal Turpin twirled his ninth straight victory, giving up seven hits as he shut out Oakland until the ninth. It was the veteran right-hander's 16th win of the season against six losses.

At Portland, the last-place Beavers and Hollywood divided honors in a doubleheader. Hollywood won the first game, 7 to 6, with one run in the ninth, but Portland came back in the nightcap with a 3 to 0 victory, scoring all three runs on five singles in the first three innings.

Popular Stars At the Atlas

Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea Play Leads In 'Union Pacific'

A star-packed cast topped by Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea, the heroic story of the building of America's first transcontinental railroad and some of the biggest epic scenes Cecil B. De Mille has ever filmed combine to make C.B.'s newest offering, "Union Pacific," one of the most impressive works of many a season. Paramount gave it its showing today at the Atlas Theatre.

The two principals of the story, played to perfection by Miss Stanwyck and McCrea, are Mollie Monahan and Jeff Butler: she the daughter of a "U.P." engineer and the mascot of the railroad-builders, he a handsome trouble-shooter sent out by Washington when trouble-makers threaten the construction of the road. Their whirlwind romance is in keeping with the times in which it took place.

Splendid Cast At the Oak Bay

'Stand Up and Fight,' Features Wallace Beery And Robert Taylor

Presenting a new screen triumvirate of Wallace Beery, Robert Taylor and Florence Rice, "Stand Up and Fight," outdoor action drama depicting the fight between the railroad and the stagecoach lines in the 1850's, comes to the Oak Bay Theatre today for a three-day engagement.

The adaptation of Forbes Parkhill's novel offers a notable supporting cast which includes Helen Broderick, Charles Bickford, Charley Grapewin, John Qualen, Barton MacLane, Robert Gleckler and Clinton Rosemond.

PLAZA THEATRE

Lovely, blonde and French, Corinne Luchaire makes her first bid for fame in Alexander Korda's "Prison Without Bars" now showing as the feature attraction at the Plaza Theatre. Edna Best and Barry Barnes head the featured cast.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Phil Harris, who has pleased radio listeners with his swingy orchestra music on Jack Benny's radio program, makes his screen debut with his radio boss in Paramount's new comedy with music, "Man About Town," now at the Capitol Theatre.

SPORTS MIRROR

"Naturally, I need a little more rest.

"But on a good day, I'm just as hard to hit as I ever was.

"I believe I'm going to have another good year."

In the first game of the second doubleheader in the Hub array's five-game sweep against the Yankees in New York, Joe Cronin trotted out Grove.

With the season only half gone, Old Mose, twice given up as washed up, was bidding for his 10th victory, as against two defeats.

Ol' Mose pitched well enough, too, for six innings . . . or until he tired in the intense heat. Young Emerson Dickman finished and received credit for the victory.

But with any luck and with the Red Sox going as they are, Grove easily may win 20 games.

He should easily realize his ambition, which is to win 300 major league games. He has 280.

There have been few, if any, greater pitchers than Robert Moses Grove, an integral part of a strong pennant contender at '39.

'Black Bandit' On Columbia Screen

Bob Baker Sings New Western Songs in Thrilling Motion Picture

Blending swift action with spectacular riding and the romantic melodies of the old west, Bob Baker's new Universal musical film, "Black Bandit," opened today at the Columbia Theatre.

As his fans have come to expect, this handsome Universal star comes through with a bang-up performance, and figures in enough thrilling escapades for half a dozen ordinary pictures. He also introduces several new western songs, especially written for the production, and sings them in the rich baritone voice which made him a top favorite on radio networks before his entry into films.

Rain or Shine Maple Bay Lures Visitors

No matter what the weather, there is a charm about Maple Bay that few visitors can resist. If it is warm and clear with the sun shining there is a picture of green trees, blue waters and a lovely circling shoreline. There are cool woodland trails to wander along and warm sea bathing, combined with boating excursions to many interesting places not far away.

If the weather is dull and there are showers, a comfortable inn with big chintz-covered chairs, a huge stone fireplace and a gay air of friendship quickly dispels all gloom. The visitor will relax, eat delicious meals and store up energy for brighter days when the sun shines again.

MUCH OF INTEREST

Maple Bay is almost completely landlocked, with a perfect basin for yachts and other smaller craft. The water is always warm for swimming and bathing and there is a good safe beach. The wooded shore extends back to a countryside of well-kept farms and lovely homes on the shores of Lake Quamichan and Somenos in the great Cowichan valley, famous for its natural beauty and its prosperous seed farms—gorgeous now in their flame of summer color. Good motor roads extend through the whole district, offering a fertile field for the exploring holiday-seeker.

Beyond the blue waters of Maple Bay loom the wooded hills of Salt Spring Island, where many beauty spots offer a variety of boating excursions that are always worth while.

The whole Cowichan district is full of Indian lore and it is possible to find many relics of these early days along the shore at Maple Bay. At the inn there is an interesting collection—each piece with an unwritten story.

CHARMING INN

Maple Inn is an attractive modern hotel, situated in a lovely garden of flowering shrubs and roses, right above the sea. It has wide windows and bright, well-furnished bedrooms with comfortable beds. This season much of the inn has been newly decorated, giving the whole place a well-kept look that immediately attracts tourists. Perfectly-cooked meals are daintily served in a pretty dining-room overlooking the water. There are boats and launches for hire and many excursions are planned for the visitor.

S. Jackson, manager-owner of the Maple Inn, is a well-known fishing and hunting guide, not only on Vancouver Island but in the interior of British Columbia.

Maple Bay—A perfect place for a holiday.

From Maple Bay he takes many parties to favored fishing spots and hunting grounds. Maple Inn is open the year round to all who visit the district.

Follow the Island Highway to the little town of Duncan, then turn right along a good trunk road, just six miles, to Maple Bay. It is an ideal spot to spend a vacation.

Canucks Ready For Cup Tennis

Bruce Hall Recovered And Will Play in Singles Against Cubans

HAVANA (CP)—In a surprise move, Guido Conill, Havana ace, today was named a fourth member of the Cuban tennis team which commences play tomorrow against the young Canadian squad in Davis Cup competition.

Cuban officials pressed Conill into service as a reserve to replace Richardo Morales, should the island's No. 1 star find two singles matches and the doubles too much to handle.

Robert Forster, the Dominion non-playing captain, announced his team in top condition today. Bruce Hall, 23-year-old University of Toronto player, completely recovered from an attack of grippe, will be ready to handle one of the singles.

The longest railway platform in England is at Manchester. It measures 2,194 feet in length and connects Victoria and Exchange stations.

Royston Beach Auto Camp Very Popular

It is important, in a season of unsettled weather, to choose a holiday spot where modern comforts may be combined with an outdoor vacation.

Royston Beach Auto Camp is well known for the many modern conveniences it has to offer in the way of snug little cottages, well built and furnished, with electric light, city water, showers and all the comforts of town. The little white and green cottages are situated in a lovely grove of maple trees just beside the sea. There is a perfect view out to the Comox Peninsula and to all the little islands along the shore. Not far away is the town of Royston, where many popular dances are held during the summer season.

Royston Beach is a splendid place to spend a holiday. It is a centre from which to explore all the beauty spots of northern Vancouver Island. It is very close to the Forbidden Plateau, not far from Campbell River and Forbes Landing. There are boats at the camp and excursions may be arranged to Denman Island, to Comox or to many other worthwhile places. Fishing is excellent throughout the season. Swimming, hiking, tennis and horseback riding are all available.

Royston Beach is right on the Island Highway. It is well worth considering in your plans for this summer's vacation.

DREW URGES STAND ON JAPANESE ISSUE

Would Deport Them From Canada If Anti-British Moves Continue

MIDLAND, Ont. (CP)—Lieut.-Col. George A. Drew believes that "Canada should say in courteous but extremely firm language that the adoption of any clearly-defined anti-British policy by Japan will be followed by the immediate deportation of all Japanese settlers from Canada."

He told the annual meeting of the Simcoe East Conservative Association last night that "for once" Canada should make a stand in an international affair.

"We Canadians have been inclined to wait for a lead from Great Britain before expressing any opinion on international affairs," the Ontario Conservative Leader said. "For once let us make up our own mind.

"We, too, are on the Pacific Ocean. Our trade to the Orient is of great importance and we have a larger number of Japanese living in this country in relation to our population than any other Dominion" . . .

"We have been told in the last few days by a spokesman for the Japanese government that there need be no misunderstanding of the situation and that Japanese people hate the British people as they never have before," Mr. Drew said.

If such hatred existed, he continued, the basis on which Canada allowed Japanese immigration had been destroyed by Japan.

Canada should say "in clear and understandable terms," Mr. Drew asserted, that if the Japanese "declare a definite course of antagonism to British people, then we shall be obliged to order all of the Japanese in Canada to leave our country. We can get along very well without them."

NOTED CRICKETER DIES

LONDON (CP) — Thomas Walter Hayward, 68, England and Surrey cricketer and one of the most famous professionals in the history of the game, died at his home in Cambridge yesterday.

Hayward was the holder of the world's highest first-class aggregate for one season, scoring 3,518 runs in 1906, when at the peak of his game. During his career he hit 105 centuries and played in 29 test matches against Australia.

Sun Worship of Hopi Indians

Buffaloes have not ranged about Arizona and New Mexico, in any large number, for hundreds of years. How does it happen, then, that the Hopi Indians have an important Buffalo dance?

Indian man and woman taking part in Buffalo dance.

The reason seems to be that the ancestors of the present Hopis used to live farther to the north, where there were many buffaloes. After moving into the southwest, centuries ago, they kept up their old custom of going through this dance.

In this tribe, the buffalo dance lasts one day. The chief dancers are a young woman, known as the Buffalo Maid, and a young man, the Buffalo Youth.

The Buffalo Maid is supposed to be a daughter of the sun, and on her back she carries what is meant to be an image of the sun.

The Buffalo Youth holds in his left hand a crooked stick, as a symbol of the lightning. This is believed to give him power over lightning. In his right hand he holds a rattle, and on his head he wears a cap made of buffalo skin, with a pair of horns jutting from it.

The symbols of lightning and the sun both seem to have the same purpose—to give honor to the sky-god. The Hopi dancers cannot help their hunters to obtain buffaloes, but they can use the dance to practice worship of the sun.

In some Hopi homes the mother of a newborn baby makes a scratch on the wall for each day the child lives. This is kept up until there are 20 scratches.

On the morning of the 20th day, before dawn, the oldest woman in the family—usually the grandmother—makes ready for a great event. The baby is washed with care, and sacred meal is placed on its face. A small ear of corn is fastened to a cord, and hung over the infant's chest. This ear is to be kept as long as the child lives.

The father also rises early and takes a seat on the eastern side of the roof of his home. He is wrapped snugly in a blanket, and his duty is to watch the point of sunrise. As soon as he sees the first light of dawn, he calls out that it is time for the child to be brought outdoors.

Out of the house comes the mother, and she is followed by the grandmother, or other woman of the clan, who holds the baby. They make their way to the place where the father is seated, following a thin line of sacred meal. Often they are followed by other members of the family or clan.

As the sun appears, the grandmother holds up the baby, and the mother utters a prayer to the sun, or sky-god, at the end of which she gives the baby a name. Then all leave the roof and go into the house for a feast. As the guest of honor, the baby is given a small pinch of food from each bowl before the rest begin to eat.

HOROSCOPE

Friday, July 21, 1939

In the early hours today benefic aspects rule positively, according to astrology. Later, adverse influences become active until evening.

Large investments should be stimulated under this planetary government which presages wide interest in important enterprises to be launched in the autumn.

There are signs encouraging extensive plans for our national welfare.

Building continues under the best possible direction of the stars. As homes multiply, cities will be beautified. Thus our citizens will express their confidence in the future of the Dominion.

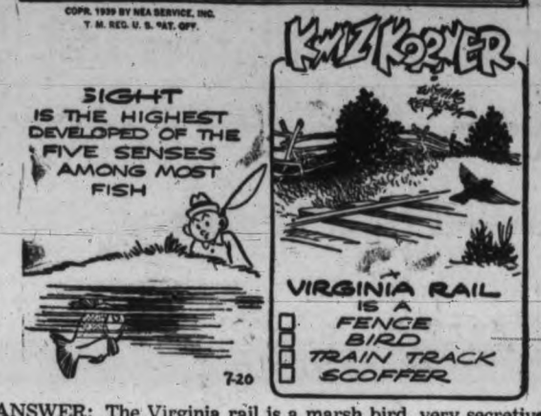
Women should attend to household tasks and domestic interests today. Diet is of major importance under this configuration.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of more than average good fortune. Novel methods of assuring steady incomes are indicated for women.

Children born on this day will be highly sensitive, clever and critical. These subjects of Cancer may have Leo traits that add force to character and assure success.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson



ANSWER: The Virginia rail is a marsh bird, very secretive in it habits, and belonging to the same family as the coots and gallinules.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I have been married two years to a man who, after trying marriage, has decided that he was not cut out for domesticity. He says that he has no fault to find with me; that I have been a good wife; that I am pleasant to get along with, and a fine housekeeper and manager. Also, there is no other woman. But he just feels that he wants to be free and that marriage is a sort of jail that he has to break out of, or die. In our brief marriage he has twice left me. The first time he asked me to go back to my people and stay for a couple of months so he could test out his feelings and decide whether he wanted to go on with our marriage or not. I did as he wished and at the end of the time he came and begged me to return. The second parting was for five months. Then he also asked me to come back. But now, after three weeks at home, he asks me to go for good and give him a divorce. What shall I do?

PERPLEXED WIFE.

Answer: Apparently you are wife in name only, as the old melodramas used to say, so I think you will be wise to give him the divorce he desires so badly. Certainly there can be no happiness for you in such an unstable marriage with a man who doesn't know what he wants from minute to minute and who refuses to accept any of the responsibilities of marriage.

There are a lot of men who are celibate by nature and who should never marry. The pity of it is that they don't find this out before they break the hearts of their wives. No matter how beautiful a home their wives make for them, it is never anything but a prison from which they are always trying to escape. The devotion of no woman repays them for their loss of personal liberty. Children are never anything to them but a ball and chain around their feet. They sacrifice their families to any fad, any hobby, any amusement, without even a thought of the crime they are committing against those whose lives they have taken in their hands.

Such men are not necessarily bad. On the contrary, they are frequently good, kind and lovable, but the call of the wild is in their blood and they are bound to answer it. They can't be tied down by domesticity. And so, when a woman gets one of these untamed creatures, who is always struggling to be free, the only thing she can do is to loose his bonds and let him go.

DOROTHY DIX.

SAYS THETIS MEN SUFFERED LITTLE

Prof. Haldane Tells of Experiments at Submarine Disaster Inquiry

LONDON (CP)—Prof. J. B. S. Haldane, who sealed himself in a steel chamber for 14½ hours as a human guinea pig, said today his experiments indicated that victims of the submarine Thetis disaster drifted into death without severe pain.

The story of the noted scientist's test was given to the special tribunal investigating the tragedy.

The Thetis was lost June 1 in a practice dive off North Wales. Of the 103 men aboard, only four escaped. Of the 99 dead, three were known to have lost their lives in attempts to leave the vessel with artificial lungs.

Professor Haldane declared of his research:

"I believe the men suffered absolutely no severe pain. They may have had headaches."

A group of relatives of submarine victims, dressed in deep mourning, were among the spectators when Professor Haldane gave his hypothesis of the last hours of the doomed.

REACTIONS OBSERVED

The scientist spent 14½ hours in an airtight steel cylinder having a window from which his reactions were observed by Capt. H. P. K. Oram, one of the four Thetis survivors.

The cylinder resembled the escape chamber from which Captain Oram and the three other survivors escaped from the submarine with Davis lung apparatus.

Professor Haldane attempted to use a Davis lung on being freed from the test cylinder.

"For a minute or two I breathed calmly and happily," he said. "Then I was seized with vomiting. I do not say I had to take the apparatus off, but I did take in off. . .

"I think it is possible that one of the men who were drowned (attempting to escape) may have vomited and torn off his mouthpiece for that reason."

He told of two additional experiments he made, including one with four friends, former soldiers fighting for Republican Spain, who joined him inside the chamber.

Of the four companions in the mass test, the professor said one felt well at the end of the long imprisonment; two had such severe headaches that efficiency was dubious; one was ill, and Haldane's own reaction was repeated.

The inquiry was adjourned until July 28 to await evidence of divers and of the condition of the Thetis, assuming she will have been salvaged by that time.

NEW MEASURES

Precautions to prevent further submarine disasters such as the loss of the Thetis were announced in the House of Commons yesterday by Geoffrey Shakespeare, financial secretary to the Admiralty.

A warship equipped to communicate with the interior of the submarine will accompany every submersible proceeding to a trial dive. Civilians accompanying the crew must have had practice with Davis lung equipment.

"The number of men aboard during diving trials will be closely scrutinized," he added.

Yacht Race Victor Not Named Yet

HONOLULU (AP) — Official head timer G. D. Crozier announced today Richard J. Reynolds' 55-foot cutter Blitzen was the chief contender for the Governor's Cup in the San Francisco-to-Honolulu yacht race, and awarded the Fandango victory in class A, Zoe H. in class B, and Blitzen in class C.

The Blitzen, from New York, which finished second to the scratch entry, Contender, 106-foot yawl owned by Dick Loynes of Long Beach, Calif., has a time allowance of three days, but still must give time to five yachts as yet unreported.

A boat many felt would give the Blitzen a race for the top honors was the 36-foot ketch Magic Carpet, built by Frank Kent of Richmond, Calif., in his back yard, and which has a handicap of four days and 22 hours.

The Fandango, 85-foot schooner skippered by Edwin N. Paaley of Los Angeles, won the four-boat class C division by defeating the Contender on a corrected time basis.

The Zoe H., 58-foot schooner owned by Ray K. Pearson of Long Beach, finished at 4.36.46 yesterday morning with an allowance of two days and 14 hours, and the Blitzen crossed the finish line at Diamond Head Tuesday night at 11.17.06 o'clock, only 51 seconds ahead of the Fandango.

OTTAWA (CP) — Commander E. S. Brand, R.N., has arrived here to take over the post of director of naval intelligence and plans for the Canadian navy. On exchange service from the Royal Navy, he succeeds Commander H. A. C. Lane, who will return to England.

Capt. Jensen Is Duchess Pilot

Well-known Pacific Coast Skipper to Pilot Liner On Alaska Cruise

Capt. Michael M. Jensen, well known at port of Victoria, from where he sailed to the Orient for many years in command of President liners, will again come here August 10 on the bridge of the Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of Richmond.

He was yesterday appointed pilot of that big ship on the Alaska leg of her present voyage which is taking her from Montreal and New York to Hawaii and the Far North.

Capt. Jensen, just returned to Vancouver from piloting the big Woolworth yacht Naparo to Alaska, is today en route to Los Angeles where he will join the Duchess of Richmond and proceed with her to the Hawaiian Islands en route to Alaska.

Veteran of 35 years of seamanship out of Seattle in Alaska and trans-Pacific service, Capt. Jensen will be an ideal man to guide Capt. H. A. Moore, the Duchess' commander to Yakutat Bay, Sitka and Juneau and down the B.C. Coast to Victoria and Vancouver.

Capt. Moore is not exactly a stranger to the north Pacific coast. He came to Victoria from Scotland in 1910, around the Horn, as second officer of the Canadian Pacific coastal steamer Princess Adalaide. He will probably see the Adelaide while on the coast.

Because the coast fleet is at the peak of its summer tourist business, all the skippers are engaged and unable to act as pilot on the Duchess.

Dutch Liner Due With Much Cargo

Inbound from Holland and Great Britain, the Holland-America Ms. Delftdyk, Capt. J. A. Liebau, will reach port early tomorrow morning from San Francisco, from which port she sailed Tuesday afternoon.

The ship is bringing 150 tons of general cargo and citrus fruits and, before proceeding to Vancouver, will load 150 tons here, including cooperage stock and locally canned loganberries for London.

She is bringing 22 passengers, 15 of whom are "round trippers" from Los Angeles and San Francisco.

'Pete' Whitelock Has 25th Anniversary

C. A. "Pete" Whitelock, general agent in British Columbia for the Cunard-White Star Line, with headquarters in Vancouver, will tomorrow celebrate his silver anniversary in the steamship business of this province.

It was on July 21, 1914, that Mr. Whitelock opened offices in Vancouver for the Donaldson and Cunard companies. He has been coming to Victoria regularly during all those years and has lost track of the number of times he has crossed between Vancouver Island and the mainland.

During a visit to local transportation agents this morning, Mr. Whitelock said travel to Europe has picked up considerably since the international tension has eased in recent weeks.

Power Boats Ready For Annual Classic

EVERETT, Wash. (AP)—Power-boat pilots of the Pacific Northwest pointed toward Everett harbor today for tomorrow's international cruiser race, their premier summer racing attraction.

Close to 50 boats are expected to participate in the predicted log event. Boats will depart from here at varying times for the 140-mile race to Nanaimo.

The goal of the race is to arrive at the Vancouver Island city at 4 p.m., Saturday. Theoretically, if all pilots gauged their boat's speed correctly they would arrive en masse.

Boat motors must maintain a constant speed, and none of the skippers is allowed a watch for checking time, along the route. A scrutinizer accompanies each craft.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP) — Wheat futures prices plunged to new six-year lows on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today under pressure of liquidation which, while only light, easily outweighed the meagre support. Final quotations were 2¼ to 2⅛ cents lower, July at 52, October 52¼ to 52⅜, November 54⅛ and December 54.

Most of the selling appeared to come from discouraged holders although intermarket spreading accounted for its share. Resting orders encountered on the scale down were not sufficient to absorb the offerings.

Export sales of Canadian wheat were confined to a few odd loads for the day.

Purchase of emergency wheat reserves by the British government, plus hedging by Argentine shippers, tumbled Liverpool values 1⅜ to 1¼d. Buenos Aires held unchanged most of the session.

Yesterday's country marketings reached 327,000 bushels against 113,000 for the same day last year.

Estimated Argentine wheat shipments this week totaled 2,388,000 bushels, compared with 3,745,000 last week and 1,213,000 for the corresponding seven days in 1938.

Wheat clearances from Black Sea ports aggregated 736,000 bushels for the current week, 1,920,000 last week and 1,264,000 a year ago.

Persistent liquidation featured trading in the coarse grain pit, with some commodities threatening to drop to new lows. Cash wheat trade was dull.

CHICAGO (AP) — Heavy selling broke out in the grain pits today, tumbling corn values approximately 3c a bushel to the lowest level in more than six years, and dropping wheat more than 2c to lows unequalled since late last year.

Most of the selling apparently came as a result of early fractional declines which uncovered a large number of stop-loss orders. The prospective large domestic corn crop, start of the spring wheat movement and establishment of all-time record lows in wheat futures at Liverpool, were bearish factors in the trade.

Corn closed 2⅜ to 2⅞ cents lower than yesterday, July 39⅞. September 41 to 41⅛, wheat 1⅞ to 2⅜ lower, July 63⅞, September 64½, oats ¾ to 1⅛ down.

Some Losses; New Highs

NEW YORK (AP)—Attempts to rally the stock market behind selected aircrafts and specialties met with failure today and a final sell-off tipped over leaders fractions to more than two points.

Dwindling of profit-taking in the early hours provided only a temporary tonic. When buyers refused to take on further commitments, offerings increased and the direction, in the majority of cases, was definitely downward at the close.

Compared with the bulging volumes of Monday and Tuesday, dealings were rather slack. Activity picked up at the last, however, and the turnover was around 850,000 shares.

Notwithstanding the cooling of speculative fever, a handful of favorites managed to edge into new high ground for the year in the morning. Among these were Transcontinental and Western Air, American Airlines, Loft and Colgate.

Up moderately at one time or another—some eventually slipped—were Glenn Martin, Montgomery Ward, N.Y. Shipbuilding, Safeway Stores, U.S. Steel, Southern Railway, Air Reduction and Consolidated Edison.

In difficulties were Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, J. I. Case, International Harvesters, Anaconda, Chrysler, General Motors, Santa Fe, Standard Oil of N.J., Du Pont and sears Roebuck.

Encouragement was derived from the flow of second quarters and six months' earningh statements which confirmed the earlier signs of improvement in business and industry. A bolstering factor also was seen in the freight loading total for last week revealing a more than seasonal jump to a new peak for 1939.

International Nickel slipped a trifle, while Lake Shore edged forward, but most others in the Canadian group—including Dominion 4s in the bond market—coasted along evently.
